NATIONALS LEAD MARKET INTEREST IN OBSOLETES HIGH

ACTIVITY

. . .across the market

by Kevin Foley

The most significant commercial activity in the collectable Paper Money field recently was the late November National and World Paper Money Convention, sponsored by the Professional Currency Dealers Association. Lyn F. Knight held the official convention auction in three sessions consisting of 3,456 lots. Knight sales over the recent past have included significant offerings of foreign Paper Money, something relatively new for U.S. based auction companies.

A gauge of the level of demand in the auction within the collecting specialty areas can be seen in the percentage of material actually sold. For foreign Notes 62% of the offered items sold while 80% of the Small Size, 88% of the Obsolete, 93% of the Nationals and 93% of the Large Size Type actually sold.

LARGE SIZE TYPE

Vol. XXIV No. 1

Large Size Type in the PCDA auction seemed to sell towards the low end of estimate to below, although there clearly was solid buyer demand as evidenced by the strong percentage sold. As with multiple auctions in the past several years, demand tended to be weakest for the most expensive material and stronger for items valued at a few thousand dollars and lower. Endurance that buyers continue to be focused on rarity can be seen in the results achieved in the Knight sale for a FR. 229a $1 1899 Silver Certificate in Extremely Fine. One of only 27 known of this number, it sold for $3,105 on an estimate of $600-$900.

SMALL SIZE TYPE

Small Size Type in the St. Louis auction experienced a lower percentage sold, 80%, than might have been expected based on the recent popularity of material in this specialty. Low and Fancy Serials continued their recent strong trends. Scarcer Stars also did well, as did items of exceptionally high quality.

FRACTIONAL CURRENCY

Fractional Currency seems to be behaving much as it has for the past year, i.e. largely stable and with no clear trend either up or down. The Currency Auctions of America FUN auction will include a significant collection of such material. The appearance of advanced collections at auction frequently sparks interest in the particular area represented and such may be the case with the FUN

Scarcer Friedberg numbers and exceptionally high quality pieces with far better than typical centering have been strongest here as of

NATIONAL BANK NOTES

Nationals continue to benefit from particularly strong demand with rare pieces selling for prices which even the most optimistic cataloger might be reluctant to predict in advance.

Red Seals enjoy especially robust demand. A $10 Greenup Kentucky in the St. Louis auction, for example, sold for $4,888, despite being cataloged as only VG/F. Another Kentucky Red Seal selling well was a $20 in Very Fine on the Lexington City National Bank. Expected by the cataloger of the Knight sale to fetch $1,000-$2,000, it actually sold for $2,645. A Paris, Kentucky $5 Red Seal in the Knight auction also handily exceeded its estimate of $2,000-$4,000 and was hammered down at $4,600, despite being cataloged only as Fine+. A $10 Tarboro, North Carolina Red Seal in XF/AU sold in the St. Louis Knight Auction for $17,250, well above its estimate of $8,000 -$12,000. Of any Note sold at the St. Louis auction, however, the single piece which demonstrated the willingness it takes was the VF/XF $20 Red Seal issued by the Norwood National Bank of Greenville, South Carolina. Estimated at $12,500 - $25,000, it actually sold for $86,250 after a protracted Bidding war. Also showing impressive results was an XF/AU $10 Red Seal on the First National Bank of Shoshoni, Wyoming, hammered down at $57,500 in St. Louis.

The same story of impressive results for rare Nationals has been repeated multiple times at other auctions in the recent past. Nationals, a specialty driven by collector demand, are the strongest segment of the market. Where there is uncertainty in predicting results for a rare Note that uncertainty relates to determining just how high an item will go before Bidding stops.

Collectors tend to buy and hold for extended periods. This behavior results in better material being held off the market rather than being re-offered again and again over relatively short periods. This is in stark contrast to the Large Size Type market, where speculative buyers drove prices to higher and higher levels during much of the 1990's only to retreat from the field when prices seemed to reach a plateau a few years ago. This withdrawal of speculative buying pressure caused a drop in prices which can be seen into the

The collector demand for Nationals is driven more by an appreciation for the historical significance of the items being acquired rather than a primary focus on financial gain. This desire to acquire and hold has the result of driving prices higher as the floating supply of Nationals available for purchase is reduced over time by the constant growth of existing collections and entry of new buyers.

Advanced collections of Illinois, Virginia, Texas and New Mexico Nationals will be made available to the collecting fraternity at the Currency Auctions of America FUN sale in early January. Such specialized collections typically redefine values of the states they represent, as existing buyers are attracted to attend by the opportunity to enhance the significance of their holding and entirely new collectors are created by the opportunity to Bid on so much previously inaccessible material in the same sale.

MISCELLANEOUS

Obsolete Notes continue to enjoy brisk demand. Odd denominations as well as fractional pieces are much in demand. Like Nationals, this is a specialty area focused on geographic collecting themes, with most buyers interested in a state or area within a particular CAA will also offer an advanced collection of Maine Obsolete material in conjunction with the FUN convention. It is anticipated that this offering will redefine values within the Obsolete field for that state.

ULTRA HIGH DENOMINATION $5,000 AND $10,000 NOTES

by Marc Michaelsen

There's no denying that $5,000 and $10,000 FRNs are among the most appealing collectable US currency. These Notes were the highest denominations printed for circulation by the Bureau of Engraving and Printing. The $100,000 Gold Certificates were also printed but never issued for public use.

The Department of the Treasury's Financial Management Service indicates that 674 $5,000 and $10,000 FRNs are outstanding (340 $5,000 FRNs and 334 $10,000 FRNs). That said, there are other U.S. Currency issues that are certainly rarer. However, they lack the draw and demand of the ultra high denoms. Infact, demand for these issues has brought them from trading at modest premiums over face value to now trading at significant multiples of face value. In the early '80s ultra high denoms changed hands at around 30-40% over face value. A circulated $5,000 bill would sell for $7,000. Twenty years later the same Note sells for around $30,000.

Unfortunately, the large majority of $5,000 and $10,000 bills have been enhanced. This doctoring can be anything from a light pressing right up to a major restoration. Enhancements have become prevalent with "big ticket" Notes, such as these, where substantial price increases for higher grades can be expected. That subject is highly controversial and beyond the scope or direction of this writing. The ability to "improve grade," however, has lead to even the worst looking ultra high denoms bringing multiples of face value. The "roughest" $5,000 FRN will trade near the $15,000 level. Twenty years ago you could have had your choice of the finest gem $5,000 for that kind of money (and probably get some change back). The appearance of unmolested $5,000 and $10,000 bills with original paper surfaces is rare. The dispersal of The Bank One Hoard of 2001 was one such exception. Unfortunately, most of these Notes also ended up being "improved" or "helped along."

No single event in the field of high denomination Notes captured as much attention as the sale of the Binion's Horseshoe in 1999. The Las Vegas Casino sold its world famous display of one hundred $10,000 Federal Reserve Notes, making headlines well outside of numismatic circles. Record price levels for these Notes and consumer demand drove them from "strong hands." High levels of consumer discretionary income seemed to offer the correct timing to bring these Binion's public. After being removed from the Horseshoe display, many Binion Notes were 3rd party graded, pedigreed and marketed at the tail-end of our most recent economic boom. It appeared anyone who could afford it, dot comers to doctors, wanted one of these Notes. The economy and the currency market appeared to be healthy. Then the bottom fell out!

Some prognosticators said that the influx of one hundred $10,000 FRNs would surely depress the values of the tens. This was true in part, but not the entire equation. A downward spiraling Nasdaq, the horrors of 9/11 and a general loss of consumer confidence affected all aspects of commerce. What happened in the currency market was a mirror of the economy in general. What came down the fastest in the currency market were not the core collector-based Notes, but instead it would be the high flyers. $5,000 and $10,000 bills were the leader of the pack and now they've "come off" in a big way. Consumers formerly flush with money were now sellers. -As "rare" as they are, there were more $5,000 and $10,000 bills on the market at one time than ever before. Whether Binion's hoard was ever effectively marketed in its entirety is not public knowledge. As with all commodities (and these should be considered such) ultra high denoms eventually found their new trading levels. These lower levels seem to now be established. Some view these levels as a buying opportunity. Others see these Notes as now being fairly valued.

Incredibly, within this most elite niche of collectable U.S. currency, "the collector" has now emerged. This isn't the guy who just bought a Binion Note with his Wall Street bonus and wants to impress his friends. This new collector is well informed and well funded, compiling data and taking a position. Of the 674 ultra high denoms outstanding, approximately half the serial numbers have now been diligently collected by a handfull of collectors and dealers. As this data becomes more detailed, core collecting of ultra high denoms will become more sophisticated. There are actually builders of district sets of these Notes by denomination and series! One thing remains constant: Investors and speculators will come and go, but it's the collector who ultimately determines and drives the market.

This author continues to deal in and collect data on these fascinating Notes. If you have any information, new serial number data, or just want to chat about high denomination Notes, please don't hesitate getting in touch. I'd like to thank Andrew Woodruff for his insight and contributions to this article.

LINDNER CURRENCY ALBUMS

Collecting currency is fun but the fun comes from working with it, taking the time to study the design, to study the reasons the notes were issued, and to share your collection with your friends - both collectors and neophytes. Hand a person as tack of notes in just holder is OK for a dealer to show a knowledgeable collector, but otherwise does not work. I have a very considerable collection of Boston Obsolete Banknotes and the organization that the Lindner Album offers me plus the pride I get when I show my notes is worth more than the cost of the album. Tom Denly

LARGE SIZE TYPE STRENGTHENS NATIONALS AND OBSOLETE REMAIN STRONG

by Kevin Foley

The 4,500+ lot sale conducted by Currency Auctions of America in conjunction with the Florida United Numismatists Convention in early January signaled potential changes in the direction of prices within the various Paper Money collecting specialty areas. Although four to five years ago Large Size Type enjoyed an almost frenzied demand which drove prices measurably higher month by month, that demand had definitely slackened over the past three years and prices have retreated for Large Size Type. At the FUN auction, however, this area showed surprising strength and prices in many cases were significantly higher than in the recent past. Several dealers Bid for a wide range of material here and drove selected prices towards the highs they had enjoyed at the market peak of a few years ago.

Bidding was especially strong for the higher quality Uncirculated pieces as well as items which could be characterized as scarce to rare. While these are precisely the segments which have consistently experienced the greatest buyer support over the past couple of years, at Orlando there was a definite upward movement in prices across-the-board.

An especially impressive array of National Bank Notes was also offered by CAA at the FUN auction. Included were 1700+ lots, encompassing major collections of Illinois, New Mexico, Virginia and Texas. Results were especially strong in this specialty area. Over the past decade Nationals have continued to capture the fancy of the collecting public to an increasing degree. The supply of available material is simply inadequate to meet an ever growing demand. Coupled with the tendency towards longer term holding periods characterized by the national fraternity, the result is simply ever strengthening prices.

Obsolete Notes in Orlando also displayed impressively strong results. Although the supply of material in this area is larger than for Nationals, the behavior of buyers is quite similar, i.e. buying and holding for the longer term. This can be expected to continue to push price levels for scarcer Notes to higher levels.

Small Size Type seemed to be less robust at Orlando than in past outings. Whether this represents a change in direction or simply a momentary plateau remains to be seen. Some of the same excesses which worked to the detriment of the Large Size Type field when prices weakened a few years ago seem to be in evidence here, e.g. speculative buyers purchasing in the expectation of short term price appreciation rather than out of any real collecting interest.

It was perhaps inevitable that there should be what might gently be referred to as a "consolidation," as prices have risen very substantially over the past five years and it would be difficult for any collecting field to sustain the pace of increases which have been evident here until very recently.

What I find most instructive, however, with respect to the level of buyer demand versus consignor price expectations in the Orlando CAA auction is the various percentages sold within the individual specialty areas. While my own belief is that anything above 90% sold is more than satisfactory, the Orlando results actually were: Colonial and Continental 81%; Obsolete 88%; Small Size Type 95%; Fractional Currency 96%; Large Size Type 98% and National Bank Notes 99%.

LARGE SIZE TYPE

Large Size Type was the one area that surprised most observers in the CAA FUN auction, showing significantly greater strength than had been expected. A $1 1896 Educational Note cataloged as Superb sold for $2,932.50. A run of four lots of single digit serial number $1 1899 Silver Certificates in Gem all sold for $2,500-$3,000, double or more their presale estimates, a Superb $2 1896 Educational went for $5,578, while one CGA Certified Gem Uncirculated 66 $5 1896 Educational topped $10,000. While Gem's of this particular Type were yielding these prices several years ago, of late results in the $6,000 range would have been more typical.

In summary, Large Size Type was unexpectedly strong in Orlando and levels were higher than in the recent past.

SMALL SIZE TYPE

Although Small Size Type has enjoyed especially strong demand over the past decade the level of such at Orlando seemed somewhat tepid compared with that prevailing until recently. Scarcer Star Notes still seem to excite considerable interest, but the strong pace of price increases displayed here over the past several years would be difficult to sustain in any case. The intrusion of speculators here may be coming to an end and this specialty can perhaps look forward to a more steady growth based on collector demand.

FRACTIONAL CURRENCY

Fractional seems to be displaying the same patterns of demand as in the recent past, with transactions taking place at current levels with no discernible upward or downward pressure across a broad front. When items sell for surprisingly high prices it seems to be those which are scarcer, of exceptionally high quality or both. Unlike both Large and Small Size Type at their peak, when buyers were willing to acquire virtually anything in sight, the Fractional marketplace remains the province of the selective buyer in no hurry to acquire what he wants.

NATIONAL BANK NOTES

Nationals remain the strongest segment of the rare currency market-place. The Orlando CAA sale was especially large and had the effect of summoning forth particularly strong demand. Among the prices realized was the first ever public offering of a Note from the First National Bank of St. Cloud, Florida. Despite being only VG and with a number of chips out of one margin, the Note sold for $10,925, somewhat higher than five times the low estimate. Also showing strength was a $1-$1-$1-$2 Uncut Original Series sheet issued by the Third National Bank of Philadelphia. It went for $21,850, a bit more than double its low estimate. A $5 Original Series issued by the National Bank of Chester, SC and bearing Serial #1 sold for $89,125, within the presale estimate range. Also doing particularly well for the consignor was a VG+ Collinsville, TX $10 Red Seal from the Poyer Collection, selling for $23,000, nearly quadruple the low estimate.

MISCELLANEOUS

Obsolete Notes in Orlando enjoyed considerable demand, with a 25 cent Pineville, Missouri merchant's scrip Note selling for $2,300, an almost unheard of level for such an item. A baseball Note from Deadwood, Dakota Territory, yielded $7,188, also a result which should have left the consignor more than satisfied.

During February there will be two auctions of significance, with R.M. Smythe & Co. conducting a specialty sale of stocks and bonds in conjunction with its Strasburg Stock, Bond and Currency Show February 7-9. Lyn F. Knight will be holding a three session sale in conjunction with the Chicago Paper Money Exposition February 21-23.

1928 Series $2 Legal Tender Star Notes Value and Rarity

by Scott Lindquist

The Legal Tender deuces have always held a special attraction to collectors and the less interested public. Whether you were prone to tearing off the corners of two dollar Notes to ward off the bad luck of this denomination in superstitious years passed, or lured to the rarity and challenging pursuit of collecting this small size series in replacement Star Notes, almost everyone wants to tuck them in their "collection".

In an effort to practice full disclosure in this writing I should mention that I am a cataloger for Smythe. It seems humanly impossible for one to be objective when discussing most any subject as we all base our judgments on personal experiences. Auction prices realized certainly have veracity in determining the value of Banknotes, but only if one views the material for sale. A conservatively graded Note can skew the numbers higher as the floor bidders who had the opportunity to view the Notes may pay double the expected price. The reverse is true for a Note described as Gem but which is actually a re-embossed or pressed Note or both. That stated, I will keep my personal grading opinions to myself and list the grades as described. Prices realized do not include the identity of the auction company. The approximate date is listed in parenthesis after its price realized. All auction prices include the buyer's fee. Prices before 1998 will not be used, as I do not wish to cause regret for most everyone's lack of foresight in purchasing this popular series earlier. Prices of five plus years ago have little bearing on today's market if there have been significant offerings since.

I will explore the collecting of this popular denomination and the general characteristics starting with the series 1928 Star. Although not rare, this first series is neither plentiful in higher grade Circulated or Uncirculated grades. I have found that all Legal Tenders come well embossed and this series is not the exception. Usually found well centered with wonderfully white paper and dark contrasting inks, this Star issue has sold for $2,035 described as Superb Gem CU (06/01), Choice CU $1,265 (07/02) and for $1,094 in Gem CU (01/03). Even though it is difficult to be objective when describing competing auction prices realized, grading subjectivity makes auction prices a starting point for approximate value but far from an absolute in determining its fair market value. In this case a good point could be made for $1,600 as the mean or average price for a Gem Note. This series Star falls in at sixth place in rarity. A good beginning as they get tougher from here until the last three series of issue.

The 1928A Star is third in rarity with few if any recent appearances in CU. The finest offered in the last few years was an EF for $2,750 on a fixed price list in 1998. Just prior to this offering a CU Note sold for over $7,000. Appearances in auction since have been scant. A VG/Fine example brought $950 (2000), Good to Very Good $650 (2002), VG $891 (07/02). Most recently a Note described as Fine with some ink sold for $863 (01/03). A best guess (there is no definitive census in Small Size Notes to date) is that slightly over 20 pieces exist in all grades with the majority obviously around VG. It is challenging to avoid hindsight in this instance as the first two higher grade Notes listed appear to be relative bargains to one desiring the finest example.

The 1928B Star is far and away the front-runner in rarity. The high water mark attained in public auction of $22,000 (2000) for a Fine specimen was most recently offset by a Very Good+ which brought $7,475 (01/03). An irregularity to say the least, as this writer personally liked the appearance of the latter specimen by a full grade. It is beyond the scope of this article to delve into the reasons for such anomalies in auction results. The reason for this seeming disparity is most likely as simple as two very eager buyers hashing it out in a sale. The buyer in the second case now owns one of only 7 reported Notes of this kind (one as yet unconfirmed but from a respected customer). Obviously there is a relative dearth of easy money today as compared to almost three years ago, yet as demonstrated other less rare issues of Star Notes are bringing consistent and strong results.

GRADING	Sight-Seen wholesale prices are for accurately graded Notes — Certified or Raw.
Gem Crisp Uncirculated	An almost perfect Note. Better than average margins. No aging or fading.
	A nice new Note but not quite Gem. Centering may be a little off. May show some aging or light counting smudges or wrinkles.
	No trace of circulation. Can have centering problems, pin holes, counting smudges, wrinkles, close margins, or a corner tip fold (not into design).
Almost Uncirculated	(Almost new) These will be much the same as a "new" Note except for a single fold or several corner folds.
	Circulated; may have some folds; still has some crispness.
Very Fine	Some circulation; may show several folds and will have lost some of its crispness and color.
	Well-circulated with little crispness remaining; edges may be rough.
Very Good	Will be fairly well-soiled; may be significantly worn; might have roughness around the edges with only minute problems.

LINDNER CURRENCY ALBUMS

Collecting currency is fun but the fun comes from working with it, taking the time to study the design, to study the reasons the notes were issued, and to share your collection with your friends - both collectors and neophytes. Hand a person as tack of notes in just holder is OK for a dealer to show a knowledgeable collector, but otherwise does not work. I have a very considerable collection of Boston Obsolete Banknotes and the organization that the Lindner Album offers me plus the pride I get when I show my notes is worth more than the cost of the album.

RESULTS FOR NATIONALS STRONG IN CHICAGO CPMX BOURSE ACTIVE

ACTIVITY

. .across the market

by Kevin Foley

The recently completed Chicago Paper Money Expo witnessed considerable commercial activity, including a three session auction by Lyn Knight which grossed roughly $2.7 million as well as a well rounded bourse of roughly 80 booths. Anecdotal reports from the bourse generally reflected at least satisfactory results for the booth holders, with some commenting on remarkably strong results and only a tiny minority complaining of a lack of either sales or purchasing opportunities.

Although attendance seemed down somewhat from the unusually strong crowd present last year, my own subjective impression was that of an event with the "buzz" of conversations going on indicating inquiries about material being made and deals being concluded.

The Lyn Knight auction seemed reflective of the recent past in the overall marketplace, with the most impressive results taking place in the National Bank Note category. While Large Size Type generally sold for less than the low end of the cataloger's estimate, there were selected results suggestive of a continuing high level of demand for pieces of exceptional quality as well as sales of Large Size Type in the higher price ranges which have been quite weak over the past several years to the extent that such items had previously failed to sell with some regularity.

LARGE SIZE TYPE

While Large Size Type in the CPMX auction typically sold for less than the low end of the estimate, there were a number of results showing the potential for demand at higher levels. A Fr. 122 $10 1901 Bison cataloged as Superb Gem went for $5,463. A Fr. 91 $5 1907 Legal Tender Note in the same grade sold for $805. A Fr. 150 $50 1863 Legal Tender Note in AU went for $46,000. While this was $10,000 below the low estimate, it should also be kept in mind that material in this price range has been quite soft of late and often failed to sell at all. An India Paper Proof of the Fr. 346a $1,000 1891 Silver Certificate sold just at the low end of the estimate, bringing $35,650.

SMALL SIZE TYPE

Small Size Type continued to display results similar to the very recent past in the Knight auction, i.e. somewhat weaker than at this time a year ago. While this is certainly not a market segment in distress, the torrid level of demand which had prevailed until quite recently is just as clearly not present today. In the CPMX auction a $10 1928 Chicago Uncut Sheet of 12 FRN's failed to sell. An offering of a $10 1933 Silver Certificate with a two digit serial number also failed to find a home.

Yet there were also results in the Small Size auction offerings indicative of considerable demand for scarce material of better quality. A $500 1934 Philadelphia FRN Star in Choice CU sold for $11,500, well above its estimate. Other Federal Reserve Stars showed similarly strong demand from auction Bidders. Indeed, scarcer Stars continue to attract considerable buyer interest and remain a segment of this specialty area in considerable demand.

FRACTIONAL CURRENCY

The demand pattern for Fractionals remain very much as they have over the past several years, i.e. items with both rarity and condition seem to regularly sell for prices which should satisfy any seller. More common material with a lack of exceptional eye appeal remains relatively weak and can languish in dealers' inventories for a considerable period until discounted substantially.

NATIONAL BANK NOTES

Even a casual glance at the Knight CPMX auction catalog leads one to the inescapable conclusion that demand for Nationals is exceptionally strong. Most of the really exciting material in the sale appeared in the National section. Indeed, most of the really exciting results were found here as well. When any market segment is this strong and bringing higher levels, new sellers realize they can now achieve these levels and this tends to bring additional material onto the market from sources which had been waiting for just such a selling opportunity. Among the National rarities offered in the CPMX auction was a California $20 Gold Bank Note on the First NB of Petaluma in the unheard of grade for such items of Ch AU. Estimated at $100,000-$200,000, it sold for an impressive $143,750, demonstrating that at least in this specialty area there remains a viable market for six-figure items. The CPMX sale included a number of other Gold Bank Note rarities, with four of them selling from just under $30,000 to just above $40,000.

A $50 Value Back issued by the Winters National Bank of Dayton, Ohio, one of only six known for the Type, went for $74,750, again demonstrating that there is considerable demand for Nationals in the same price categories where demand for Large Size Type has generally slackened.

Also a standout was a $10 1882 Brown Back from Waupaca, WI, which sold for $12,075. Nationals continue to be stronger than at any time in recent memory and that strength continues to be supported by collectors buying and removing material from the marketplace for considerable periods to hold and enjoy in their own collections. This pattern of buying for long holding periods will continue to create an ever diminishing supply of available Notes and it is expected that at least for scarcer material prices will continue to be under considerable upward pressure.

MISCELLANEOUS

Confederate and Obsolete material continue to enjoy strong demand. Like Nationals, they remain collector as opposed to speculator driven markets. The growing base of collectors in both these areas should continue to support at least stable to increasing prices over the next several years.

In the stock and bond area, R.M. Smythe & Co held a 618 lot auction of such material in conjunction with its Strasburg Stock, Bond and Currency Show in early February. While the overall gross was a relatively small, by general numismatic standards, $350,000, with the 15% buyers' fee, there was a completed sale percentage of just under 90%, quite remarkable for this more thinly traded specialty. Among the scarcer items selling was a Marconi Wireless Telgraph certificate signed by Guglielmo Marconi, going for a shade under the low estimate, at $5,750. Another scarce item bringing an impressive price was a certificate issued by the Northern Pacific RR and signed by Jay Cooke and J. Edgar Thompson, selling for $8,000, just within the estimate range.

1928 Series $2 Legal Tender Star Notes Value and Rarity

by Scott Lindquist

As a cataloger for R. M. Smythe I am striving to withhold my opinions regarding either grade or prices garnered from prices realized at auction. Extrapolating opinions as to price and value will be left to the reader. To assist in this task, in all but a few cases, I have used prices realized of Notes personally viewed and judged not to be, in my opinion, excessively liberal (frequent) or conservative (rarely) in grade description. It is a fairly difficult job to find a firm price for this ever-changing market as I discovered contributing to other numismatic publications.

The fourth scarcest Star Note in the Two Dollar Legal Tenders is the 1928C. An EF/AU Note brought $770 (2000); Choice CU $1,045 (2000); VF/EF $920 (07/02); and lastly a F/VF for $518 (01/03). With so few appearances, and none in similar grades, it is difficult to find a pricing pattern for this scarce issue. The Small Size specialist and researcher Dave Schlingman has proven his theory that the rare Mule variety can exist in a Star Note, but none have been found to date. If one exists it will stand alone as the king of this series of Star Notes.

The 1928D is known in two different varieties as a Star Note, both Mule and regular. The 1928D Mule is fifth in the rarity rating for Stars. Prices realized include a Choice CU at $1,050 (2000); a Gem CU $1,320; a Superb Gem CU $2,035 (06/01) and most recently a Choice CU $1,495 (07/02). In the non-Mule variety, seventh on the totem pole for rarity, this Note has recently realized: Choice CU $305 (2000); Gem CU $825 (06/01); CU $489 and Gem CU $920 (07/02); and lastly, $633 for a Choice CU (01/03).

Second only to the extremely rare 1928B Star is the 1928E Star. A Fine sold for $1,650 and a Choice to Gem CU at $8,000 in 2000. Only one Note offered in 2001 brought $8,800 in Choice CU. Most recently an About Fine brought $2,875 (07/02) and another described as Fine/Very Fine brought $2,070 (01/03). With less than 5 to 6 known in CU and perhaps a two dozen or so in all other grades, this Note's rarity and value appears to be well defined.

The 1928F Star is second to last in rarity. At least one respected dealer felt it was scarcer than the 1928D non-Mule variety five years ago, however recent public and private offerings currently dispute that rating. Although nearly twice as scarce as the 1928G Star, the 1928F has achieved only slightly better results in auction: a Choice CU brought $475; a Gem CU $660 in 2000; another Choice to Gem CU brought $715 (06/01); and a Choice CU $575 (07/02).

Last for rarity is the final issue for this Small Size design Type is the 1928G Star. Available occasionally as consecutive Notes, examples have sold in Gem CU for $550 (2000), Superb Gem CU $1,045 (06/01), and Choice to Gem CU for $575 (07/02). In January 2003 there were three auction offerings; a Choice CU sold for $355 and two separate Notes in Gem CU sold for $460 each.

The most recent auction results have been reported by spectators of the markets as being weakened due to the lack of speculator interest. As a very active retail dealer participating in this market daily I dispute any speculator driven theories. In my experience less than 10% are speculators, with the vast majority being collectors who can no longer afford Large Size Type. Although Small Size collectors must be wary of the same deceptive practices, namely chemical processing, washing, pressing and reembossing inherent in the Large Size arena, the comparative collector interest in the rarity and value of these Notes is indisputable. Show after show collectors come to the tables with their difficult to fill want lists.

As stated in the beginning of the first part of this article there are many reasons why one auction's results could be weak: too much material coupled with auction sessions running until nearly 3 AM at a very busy venue; a lack of consistent grading standards; and a weaker economy could have a major effect. As can be plainly seen in the realized prices listed here, some of the strongest results were attained last July. In all areas of the market, save perhaps Nationals and Obsoletes which are less grade sensitive, the Notes bringing the strongest prices are top-grade, original pieces of this country's financial history.

LINDNER CURRENCY ALBUMS

Collecting currency is fun but the fun comes from working with it, taking the time to study the design, to study the reasons the notes were issued, and to share your collection with your friends - both collectors and neophytes. Hand a person as tack of notes in just holder is OK for a dealer to show a knowledgeable collector, but otherwise does not work. I have a very considerable collection of Boston Obsolete Banknotes and the organization that the Lindner Album offers me plus the pride I get when I show my notes is worth more than the cost of the album.

MARKET MAINTAINS CURRENT LEVELS NATIONALS REMAIN STRONGEST SEGMENT

. .across the market

by Kevin Foley

Activity over the past month has served largely to confirm previous trends rather than to define new directions, either up or down. In the Large Size Type specialty, the highest quality Uncirculated items and attractive middle grade Notes seem to be in the strongest demand. National Bank Notes continue to be the specialty area where there is the greatest excitement. The floating supply available for purchase at any given time of all but the very most common items adds an air of urgency to purchasing decisions for Nationals when material is available. Small Size Type continues to enjoy healthy demand from its collector base, although it seems to have slackened at least somewhat from what could be seen a year ago at this time. As prices rose in this specialty at such a torrid pace it was perhaps inevitable that there should be a correction. That seems to have begun over the past months.

The auction held in mid-March by Bowers & Merena at the Baltimore Show demonstrates a point about the currency market that all participants should keep in mind, i.e. the subjectivity of values for material of like Type and condition. Participants in any collectables market too often fall into the trap of assuming that there is a "correct" price for an item at a given point in time. My own belief is that this is not the case at all and that it is far more accurate to realize that like items can sell within a range of prices – sometimes a fairly considerable range – when offered to the same population of buyers.

This was certainly the case in the Bowers & Merena Baltimore auction. No less than fifteen $10 1901 Legal Tender Notes described as Gem were offered in the sale. Six were certified as Gem 65 by CGA and one as Gem 66 by the firm. For the uncertified pieces cataloged as Gems there was a fairly wide range of realizations, with one selling as low as $2,300 and one as high as $4,313. The CGA 65 Bisons, however, showed a much closer clustering of prices realized. Three went for the same price, $3,450, one for $3,565 and one for $3,738. The lone CGA 66 sold for $4,313, the same price as the highest uncertified Gem Bison. March CDN Gem Bid for this Type had been $2,900, a level surpassed by all but one of the auction Notes.

The next significant offering of collectable currency will be the Currency Auctions of America Sale to be held in conjunction with the May 1-4 Central States Numismatic Society 64th Anniversary Convention in St. Louis, Missouri. In addition to the typical 3,000+ lots of Paper Money generally offered by the firm there will also be a relatively large section of stocks and bonds.

LARGE SIZE TYPE

Large Size Type prices have remained relatively steady over the past month with no detectable change in direction, either up or down. It should be noted that exceptionally high quality pieces regularly bring unexpectedly high prices at auction. Another focus of demand seems to be especially scarce items selling for $10,000-$15,000 or less. The market for the ultra rare items bearing six figure price expectations remains difficult to define, except to say that it is clearly much weaker than was the case a few years ago.

SMALL SIZE TYPE

Price levels for Small Size Type seem to be in a period where the almost frantic demand of the past several years has clearly slackened, with an associated softening of prices. Readers are cautioned not to misinterpret this as implying the existence of a speculative collapse, as that is certainly not the case. Small Size Type continues to be a strongly collected area. It is just as clear, however, that some of the more speculative oriented buyers have withdrawn from this area. With their departure has come a return to demand levels more indicative of a collector-based market.

FRACTIONAL CURRENCY

Fractional Currency remains somewhat tepid. Especially rare items and especially high quality pieces seem to be the focus of buyer demand here. It is for material displaying the aforementioned attributes that the strongest prices will apply. For the balance of the Fractional Currency spectrum, however, there seems to be more material available than there are buyers. Both the pace of sales and price levels seem to reflect this condition.

NATIONAL BANK NOTES

Nationals are clearly the strongest specialty from the standpoint of buyer demand. Supplies of all but the very most common items continue to be inadequate to meet the demands of the growing collector base. The entry of just a couple of new players seeking to collect a given state in a serious way can have a measurable impact on prices. When really scarce to rare Notes on a strongly collected state are offered at auction, there can be considerable uncertainty as to just how high the contending buyers will push an item before Bidding ceases. This remains a marketplace driven by classic collector behavior. Items are acquired to hold and enjoy for an extended period. When one couples the long period of retention with the relatively small supply of any given bank, the result is a constant upward pressure on prices. Buyers here are interested primarily in acquiring an item. Price, both present and future, is an almost secondary consideration.

MISCELLANEOUS

Obsolete and Confederate Notes continue to be very much in demand. Obsolete Notes are increasingly being purchased on the basis of geographic specialization, very much as in the National Bank Note specialty area. This hasn't always been the case, but it is perhaps inevitable that as prices for scarce Obsoletes have risen, purchasers would, out of necessity, become more selective in their buying habits.

Web Note $1.00 Bill - "Errors"

by Barry Ciociola

I am sure most of you are aware of the $1.00 Web Notes which were issued as recently as the 1995 series of $1.00 bills. While the experiment to issue Web Notes itself was, for the most part, a failure, the series itself inspired hundreds of die-hard collectors to vie to complete sets of $1.00 Webs by block, plate combination and runs. The ironic part of attempting to complete a Web Note set, is the fact that most collectors will never complete a set due to the rarity of many of the Notes which are unique or nearly so. This in itself has created another collectible set of Notes which due to the lack of availability of the regular Web Notes, has created a whole field of collectors now trying to compete for the very few "errors" created during the Web Note series.

It takes tenacity to even be a collector of Web Notes to begin with. For the most part the Notes are scarce, and trying to acquire all of them may seem like an endless project. Many of the Web Note collectors of the past few years have endeavored to assemble as many different errors as are known in the Web Note series. If you think that collecting Web Notes are tough, then this is really challenging.

There are about as many kinds of errors in this series as there are in regular $1 bills, except that Web Note errors happened much less frequently than regular production of Dollars printed on the "Giori Press". Unfortunately for the "error" collector of the Web Note series, one Note may cost several hundred to several thousand dollars!

It is important to know why Web Notes are not as frequently encountered as "error" Notes. First, the Web Notes were printed using a high speed press which also incorporated a computer for spotting irregularities in the Note production. If an irregularity was spotted by the computer it would shut down the press until the problem could be solved. There were also individual checkers, people who oversaw the production, so now we had two ways to stop most errors. Quite frankly, it must have worked quite well as there are not nearly as many "errors" per thousand Notes as there are for regular "Giori Press" Notes. So to the Governments' credit, part of the Web Note production was successful as errors were actually held down during this time. Unfortunately for collectors it has made it more difficult to locate these error Notes as fewer examples

Next, we will look at the different kinds of "error" Notes that it is possible to collect, also, we included a sampling of the prices attached to these rare Notes. As I said earlier, many of the same errors occurred in the Web Note series but mostly due to COPE. The term COPE is an acronym for Currency Overprinting and Processing Equipment. In-other-words, it is the machinery used to affix the serial numbers, the green Treasury Seal and the black Federal Reserve District Seals to the Notes. Many "errors" occur during this process. Most of these comprise the most dramatic "errors", such as having the serial numbers inverted on the front or the back of the Note. Other times the serial numbers and seals are just affixed to the wrong location on the Note, maybe too far right or too far left into the design or border area of the bill. Below is a list of the possible errors currently known and values of such.

Mis Alignment error usually on the back of the note	$70	-	$80
lnking errors overinked (major smear)	$300	-	$600
Inking errors underinked (major under inked) "Ghostly image"	$300	-	$500
Ink Solvent Smears (front or back) major smear	$300	-	$500
Ink overruns in the border design areas (front or back)	$30	_	$75
Printing - errorsscratched plate(s) causing a line on the note (front or back)			$25
Printing - errorsboard break(s) causing an "underinked" area in borders			$100+
C.O.P.E errorsshifted serial numbers and/or seals (major)	$100	-	$200
C.O.P.E errorsinverted overprint seals & serial numbers	$2,500	_	$5,000
C.O.P.E errorsseals & serial numbers on back of notes	$5,000	-	$7,000
C.O.P.E errorsshifted or rolled serial number digit	$150	_	$250
C.O.P.E errorsfoldovers & butterflys, affecting the overprint			$3,000 +
C.O.P.E errorsdistrict seal (major mis-alignment) up or down			$2,500

These are the most commonly encountered "errors" found on Web Notes. There may be others that have not yet come to light. One that comes to mind could be a "mis-matched" serial number, which if one turned up may conceivably bring in the $7,000 to $10,000 range or more! It is safe to say that there will never be thousands of collectors for $1 Error Web Notes because there are probably not even a few hundred "errors" yet known! All I can say is, if you are currently collecting the $1 Federal Reserve Note series anyway, and maybe even the $1 Web Notes, you might want to consider adding a little spice to your collection by including one or two Web Note errors. These are just perfect for something to have for "Show and Tell" at your next Coin/Currency Club meeting. And by the way, Happy Collecting!

LINDNER CURRENCY ALBUMS

Collecting currency is fun but the fun comes from working with it, taking the time to study the design, to study the reasons the notes were issued, and to share your collection with your friends - both collectors and neophytes. Hand a person as tack of notes in just holder is OK for a dealer to show a knowledgeable collector, but otherwise does not work. I have a very considerable collection of Boston Obsolete Banknotes and the organization that the Lindner Album offers me plus the pride I get when I show my notes is worth more than the cost of the album.

PAPER MONEY MARKET BROADENS NATIONALS REMAIN HOT

by Kevin Foley

The focus of buyer and seller interest clearly remains on the auction segment of the marketplace. In fact, one lament of dealers offering material privately is that there is very little in the way of better fresh material coming to them directly, and that sellers are increasingly offering better items through the auction mechanism. I've commented in the past that there is a logical basis for such behavior, but it bears restatement.

The value of any collectable item can be quite subjective and depends very much on what a given buyer is willing to pay to a specific seller at a particular point in time. What this amount might ultimately be depends on a complex interaction of a number of factors. Included in the equation are the buyer's and seller's assessment of the value of the item, the confidence the buyer has in the knowledge, qualifications, experience and integrity of the seller, as well as the buyer's confidence in his own level of knowledge about the item being offered.

When a Note is offered privately, a potential buyer may feel that he has no independent method to verify the claims of the seller as to condition, rarity and value. Indeed, the buyer may lack confidence in his own knowledge of the material and be uncertain of his own qualifications to determine a fair value regardless of the claims being made by the seller and regardless of his confidence in the seller.

The auction mechanism adds the opinions of others to the equation. Once the Bidding starts at a public auction, every prospective purchaser has the assurance that when he or she is called upon by the auctioneer to Bid at the next increment, you are simply offering a bit more than another potential purchaser did only seconds before. Thus, if the next increment is a Bid of $5,000, the purchaser can have some assurance that a real buyer other than himself is willing to pay $4,750.

In the Paper Money field, auctions have become an increasingly important part of the overall marketplace over the past 15 years. Prior to then there was only one significant Paper Money convention, the Memphis Show held in June. Now there are no less than three, also including the CPMX in February and the National and World Paper Money Convention in November, as well as an increasing number of secondary shows. If there was more than one significant Paper Money auction per year 15 years ago it would have been major news.

Paper Money has simply moved from the periphery very much into the main stream of the numismatic marketplace. The number of large sales at coin and currency conventions readily confirms this belief.

LARGE SIZE TYPE NOTES

Large Size Type seems to be moving in an upward direction. While there had been a retreat in many price levels during 2002, beginning with the CAA FUN auction in January there would appear to be more strength here than over the previous year. The strongest demand is for items of especially outstanding quality and originality as well as Notes with some scarcity, provided they are still at least reasonably presentable. Still awaiting a recovery from falls off the peak are the ultimate rarities that formerly sold in the very high six-figure ranges.

SMALL SIZE TYPE NOTES

The Small Size Type market remains very much as it has for the past several months, i.e. less robust than it had been a year ago for generic material. Specialty items, however, whose value is supported by genuine scarcity, such as selected Star Notes, scarcer districts within a generic Type, scarcer prefix and suffix letters, etc. continue to generate considerable buyer interest and prices commensurate with their rarity. For the reasons enumerated in our introductory comments, such items are also increasingly offered at auction.

FRACTIONAL CURRENCY

Fractional Currency continues to display the same patterns of demand which have been in effect recently, i.e. tepid to weak for the more common material. Rarities, especially in higher grade do, however, sell quite readily at what are regarded as strong prices. There is simply more fractionals available for sale than there are interested buyers at present, so it is quite logical that a Note would need to display either quality or scarcity to achieve strong results.

NATIONAL BANK NOTES

Nationals are by far the strongest segment of the marketplace. When I entered the commercial Paper Money marketplace in the 1970's, although rare Nationals generated excitement at the price levels then current, what I have always regarded as the middle range Notes, i.e. pieces that are not scarce unless a collector wants just that specific item, were a considerable challenge to sell at any level even remotely approaching their theoretical value. That is no longer the case. The National market has become considerably broader based than ever. Rarities now sell for prices at least several multiples of what they would have as recently as 3-5 years ago. Even more available Notes when offered at auction, can, and do sell for prices which are surprisingly high when measured against levels in effect during that same recent period.

MISCELLANEOUS

Interest in Confederate Notes continues to grow and will be measured by the offering of a significant collection in the Memphis auction this June. The marketplace for stocks and bonds displays evidence of broadening, with a relatively large offering of such items in the Central States Numismatic Society auction early in May.

Treasury Notes of the War of 1812 – The First Federal Circulating Currency

By Donald H. Kagin, PhD

Quickly - what was our Nation's first circulating currency? If you said the Demand Notes of 1861 (the original "Greenbacks") you and about 85% of currency collectors would be wrong by 46 years. It was the Treasury Notes of the War of 1812 issued in 1815.

Occasioned by the second war against England, and the expiration of the charter of the First Bank of the United States, a total of five Treasury Note issues were emitted totaling $36 million. The fifth issue included small circulating Notes of $3, $5, $10, $20 and $50 denominations.

Perhaps because of their relative scarcity and the paucity of information concerning them, there has been little discussion of these historical remnants of our fiscal past, and until recently, little attempt to valuate them. So rare are these Notes that when we first designed "the Greensheet" in 1978, we made no provision for valuing these Notes primarily because there were no regular wholesale Bids at that

Pre - 1812 Financing

From the adoption of our nation's Constitution until the War of 1812, the government had financed its deficits by borrowing large sums. Until 1792 major loans were primarily procured from Holland, while temporary or "bridge" loans were obtained from prominent merchants or from the four existing private banks, e.g., the Bank of North America or the Bank of New York. Once the Bank of the United States was established, that institution superseded the others in becoming the primary lender of short term funds to the nation. Almost all the revenue for payment of loans was derived from custom duties or the excise on spirits; a paltry amount with which to fight a world power like Britain.

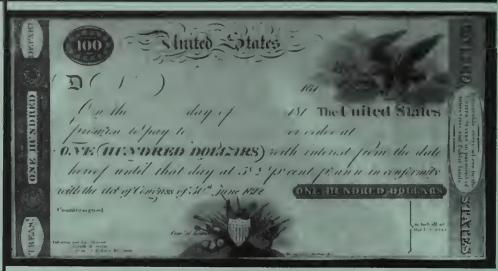

Until the financial emergencies, occasioned by the War of 1812, our nation was firmly committed to a hard money policy. The Constitution gave Congress the power "to coin money, regulate the value thereof and fix the standard of weights and measures." While the question of Paper Money was vigorously debated by members of the Constitutional Convention, both a proposal for the inclusion of a provision authorizing its use by the national government, and one prohibiting that use, were defeated. The political thinking of the time, succinctly expressed by James Madison, was that authorizing the use of Paper Money may lead to its mass abuse and proliferation, reminiscent of the vastly depreciated Continental Currency. Outright prohibition of Paper Currency, however, would tie the government's hands in case of a temporary emergency. The Constitution of Congress, therefore, resolved the dilemma by doing nothing.

First Treasury Notes

During the Republican administrations of Jefferson and Madison, the architect of the Government's conservative fiscal system was Treasury Secretary Albert Gallatin. Gallatin's major objective was the reduction of the national debt.

Unable to sell long term debt advantageously and without the First Bank of the United States to provide bridge financing, Gallatin recommended the use of Treasury Notes bearing interest be put in circulation. This was the first statement by a U.S. Secretary of the Treasury in favor of a Federal currency.

After extensive debate, Congress authorized issuing up to $5,000,000 in denominations of $100 and $1,000 Notes. They were redeemable one year after issue at 5.40% or 1.5 cents a day per $100. The first issue of Treasury Notes was quite successful and was fully subscribed by the banks by December 1812. All Notes, except for a few $100's, were redeemed by the end of 1814 and withdrawn from circulation.

Second to Fourth Treasury Note Issues

Difficulties in borrowing money to pursue the war continued and forced another issue of Treasury Notes. As suggested by Gallatin in December, Congress authorized the issue of $5,000,000 in new Treasury Notes to replace those of June, 1812. The terms of issue were identical with the preceding Notes, with the exception that these were to be redeemed by March 31, 1815. Thus by the summer of 1813 the pattern of financing the war had been set; Congress would raise as much as it could in long term loans and make up the difference by the issuance of Treasury Notes. At the same time, nothing had been done to support this mass of floating debt which now approached $10,000,000, a sum equal to one year's peace time revenue.

The March 4, 1814 Act, authorizing a $25,000,000 loan also provided for $10,000,000 of Treasury Notes, half of which were considered to be part of the $25,000,000 loan. Three denominations - $1,000, $100 and $20 - were issued. The use of a $20 Note, even though interest bearing, was a significant departure from previous practices, for they were clearly intended to serve as de facto currency. Proof of their intended circulation can be found in Tennessee Governor William Blount's Oct. 12, 1814, letter to Treasury Secretary Dallas, in which the former stated that he had endorsed $100,000 in Treasury Notes, "so that they may go into circulation." Blount subsequently delivered the Notes to Postmaster General W. B. Lewis to distribute.

The third issue did not satisfy public demand and the general suspension of specie payments outside New England forced a review of Treasury policy. Although President Madison attempted to persuade Congress to authorize a national Currency, they avoided the issue and instead continued to borrow money and issue more Treasury Notes. With little or no debate, both Houses authorized another issue of $7,500,000. These Notes were in lieu of money authorized by previous loan acts and, in addition, this act (December 26, 1814) authorized an additional $3,000,000 of Notes to defray the war expenses for 1814. Most of the bill's provisions were identical to the act of March 4, 1814 and resulted in a total of $8,318,400 being issued. Although $20, $50 and $100 Notes were issued there are no records of $50 bills having been printed.

It was the unenviable duty of the Secretary of the Treasury to report early in 1815 that the Treasury was virtually empty and without credit. New loans had been solicited abroad but none were available, fiscal revenues were far from adequate and a uniform circulating medium still had not been achieved. A new monetary expedient was necessary.

LINDNER CURRENCY ALBUMS

Collecting currency is fun but the fun comes from working with it, taking the time to study the design, to study the reasons the notes were issued, and to share your collection with your friends - both collectors and neophytes. Hand a person as tack of notes in just holder is OK for a dealer to show a knowledgeable collector, but otherwise does not work. I have a very considerable collection of Boston Obsolete Banknotes and the organization that the Lindner Album offers me plus the pride I get when I show my notes is worth more than the cost of the album. Tom Denly

NATIONALS GROW EVEN STRONGER BUYERS FOCUS ON AUCTIONS

. .across the market

by Kevin Foley

Two significant Paper Money auctions were held in the last month. The first, a 2,200+ lot sale sponsored by Lyn Knight grossed $2.1 million. Just a week later came a five session 5,200+ lot sale held by Currency Auctions of America in conjunction with the Central States Numismatic Society Convention. Its prices realized totaled $4.5 million.

A decade ago any Paper Money auction company would have been delighted to have a sale total in excess of $1 million. Today, such a result ranks at the low end of the scale. The nearly $7 million combined total of the Knight and CAA sales reflect a volume of activity that would have been undreamed of ten years ago in the space of the one week that separated these events.

Both sales confirmed recent observations made here concerning the overall state of the currency marketplace, especially with respect to the widening premium buyers are willing to pay for items of undisputed and exceptional quality. Prices achieved by rare National Bank Notes also continue to reflect both a widening base of demand as well as the apparently growing affluence of the community of purchasers seeking such items.

LARGE SIZE TYPE NOTES

The demand for higher quality Notes in the Large Size Type specialty can be seen in a number of the prices in both the Knight and CAA sales. A $5 1899 Indian Chief cataloged as Gem went for $3,335 in the Knight auction. The CAA sale included a cut sheet of the same series, with each of the four pieces cataloged as Superb. They sold for $3,910, $2,645, $4,140 and $3,680. The fact that Notes from the same sheet described the same by a single cataloger sold for such widely varying prices again demonstrates, however, that values for collectable currency remain dependent on highly subjective opinion variables on the part of buyers. A $5 1896 $5 Educational in the CAA sale described as Superb sold for $10,638. Although in the stronger market for Large Size Type prevailing two years ago the $5 Educational began to regularly sell at auction in this grade for $10,000+ levels, then weakened considerably, but now appear to be regularly approaching and exceeding the $10,000 level once again.

Also worthy of note in the CAA sale was the offering of a Fine Fr. 185k $500 1880 Legal Tender Note. This is just the kind of higher priced Note which has been weakest over the last couple of years. The offered example traded within the past six months at the $125,000 level but sold for $161,000 when reoffered in the CAA sale.

SMALL SIZE TYPE NOTES

The story here remains much as it has been for the past several months, with generic material not as strong as it had been even as recently as a year ago. Selected specialty items, especially scarce to rare Star Notes, however, remain very much in demand. In fact, the higher price levels currently prevailing at auction for better Star Notes have brought so much such material onto the market that the frequency of offering for this material is higher than at any time I can recall.

FRACTIONAL CURRENCY

This is perhaps the quietest segment of the market. While rarities here command historically high prices, the more common material exists in more abundant supply than market demand can absorb. As a result, both prices and transactions can be quite tepid. The CAA Central States auction amply demonstrated, however, the fact that there is considerable demand for Fractional rarities. A Gray Shield in the sale went for $9,315, slightly over double its pre-sale estimate.

NATIONAL BANK NOTES

Nationals are far and away the strongest segment of the marketplace. There appears to be no end in sight for the levels being achieved by scarce to rare material. A decade ago a National selling for more than $10,000 would have been big news. Today such results are commonplace. The Knight sale offered a VF+ $20 1902 on the First National Bank of Ashford, AL Estimated at $3,500-$6,500, it actually sold for $11,500. Just a few lots later a FINE $5 1902 on Auburn, AL carrying the same $3,500-$6,500 estimate went for $14,950. Rather than being aberrations, such results for National rarities are becoming the rule.

The CAA Central States auction had 1,700+ lots of Nationals. Bidding could best be described as torrid, with some pieces achieving results that literally were mind boggling. One example was a VF+ $1 First Charter Auburn, NY, The Auburn National City Bank. It was estimated at $2,250-$4,250, but sold for $25,300. A Harrisville, NY CH CU $5 Third Charter 1902 Plain Back estimated at $3,000-$5,000 sold for $14,950.

In fact, a quick perusal of the Central States prices realized shows the highest percentage of $1,000+ results for Nationals of any large auction of such material that I can remember. The market value of National Bank Notes simply seems to have been redefined by a new generation of buyers and the resources they are prepared to bring to bear to acquire items of interest.

MISCELLANEOUS

Confederate material as well as Obsolete Notes continue to be very much in demand by collectors. A disappointing percentage of items actually sold in a fairly large offering of stocks and bonds in the Central States auction underscores the thinness and lack of depth in this specialty area.

Treasury Notes of the War of 1812 -The First Federal Circulating Currency

Part 2

by Donald H. Kagin, PhD

Our first circulating currency was not the Demand Notes of 1861 but the small Treasury Notes occasioned by the War of 1812. With the demise of the First Bank of the United States and no provision for internal revenue taxes, only loans and these innovative Notes were left to provide revenue to prosecute the war.

Small Circulating Treasury Notes

In the report of the House Ways and Means committee (October 10, 1814), Chairman Eppes argued that in order to secure the circulation of Treasury Notes, small denominations should be issued. They should be payable to bearer, transferable by delivery and receivable in all payments for public lands and taxes. Internal revenues should be pledged for payment of the interest, and the Notes should be fundable for 8% stock or redeemable in specie after six month's notice by the government. This was a radical departure for the new Treasury Secretary Dallas, who had never before suggested non-Interest Bearing Notes as a national circulating medium.

The announcement of peace with England was received a few days before the bill passed, rendering it no longer necessary as a war measure, but it was enacted as a means of paying off the arrearages of the war. It was also intended to give a circulating medium to the country superior to the dubious state bank Notes. Notes issued under this act were denominated 'small," if under $100, and "large" if $100 or over.

Of the $25,000,000 authorized only $4,979,400 in $100 Notes and $3,392,994 in small Notes consisting of $3, $5, $10, $20 and $50 Notes were actually emitted. The small Treasury Notes, however, were reissued until $9,070,386 worth was finally disbursed. The small Notes bore no interest by circulating as money.

Success of the Treasury Notes

A thorough analysis reveals not only that the Treasury Notes were successful in helping the public credit but also that the small Treasury Notes did indeed circulate. An editorial in the Richmond Examiner of December 31, 1814 urged more people to accept Treasury Notes. They were superior, the writer claimed, to the Exchequer bills of England, and already many people were accepting the Notes. The same paper reported on January 10, 1815 that the Treasury Notes, "are rising fast in our market. They were sold yesterday, not merely at their nominal value, but with the interest added."

Despite the usefulness of the Treasury Notes, Secretary Dallas viewed them as an embarrassment to the fiscal operations of the government, made necessary by the extraordinary expenses of war and recommended the repeal of all Treasury Note acts and prohibiting further issue of Notes. This law remained in effect for almost 20 years, during which time the legal circulating medium consisted of Spanish and Mexican Dollars, foreign Silver, and Notes of the Second Bank of the United States. Thus ended the first experiment with a circulating currency in the United States.

All these series are extremely rare in any form, and nearly all of the few known are specimens, proofs, or remainders, with most cancelled in some way. Fully signed, dated, numbered, and un-cancelled Notes are virtually GRADING Sight-Seen wholesale prices are for accurately graded Notes — Certified or Raw. Gem Crisp Uncirculated An almost perfect Note. Better than average margins. No aging or fading.

Choice Crisp Uncirculated A nice new Note but not quite Gem. Centering may be a little off. May show some aging or light counting smudges or wrinkles. Crisp Uncirculated No trace of circulation. Can have centering problems, pin holes, counting smudges, wrinkles, close margins, or a corner tip fold (not into design). Almost Uncirculated (Almost new) These will be much the same as a "new" Note except for a single fold or several corner folds.

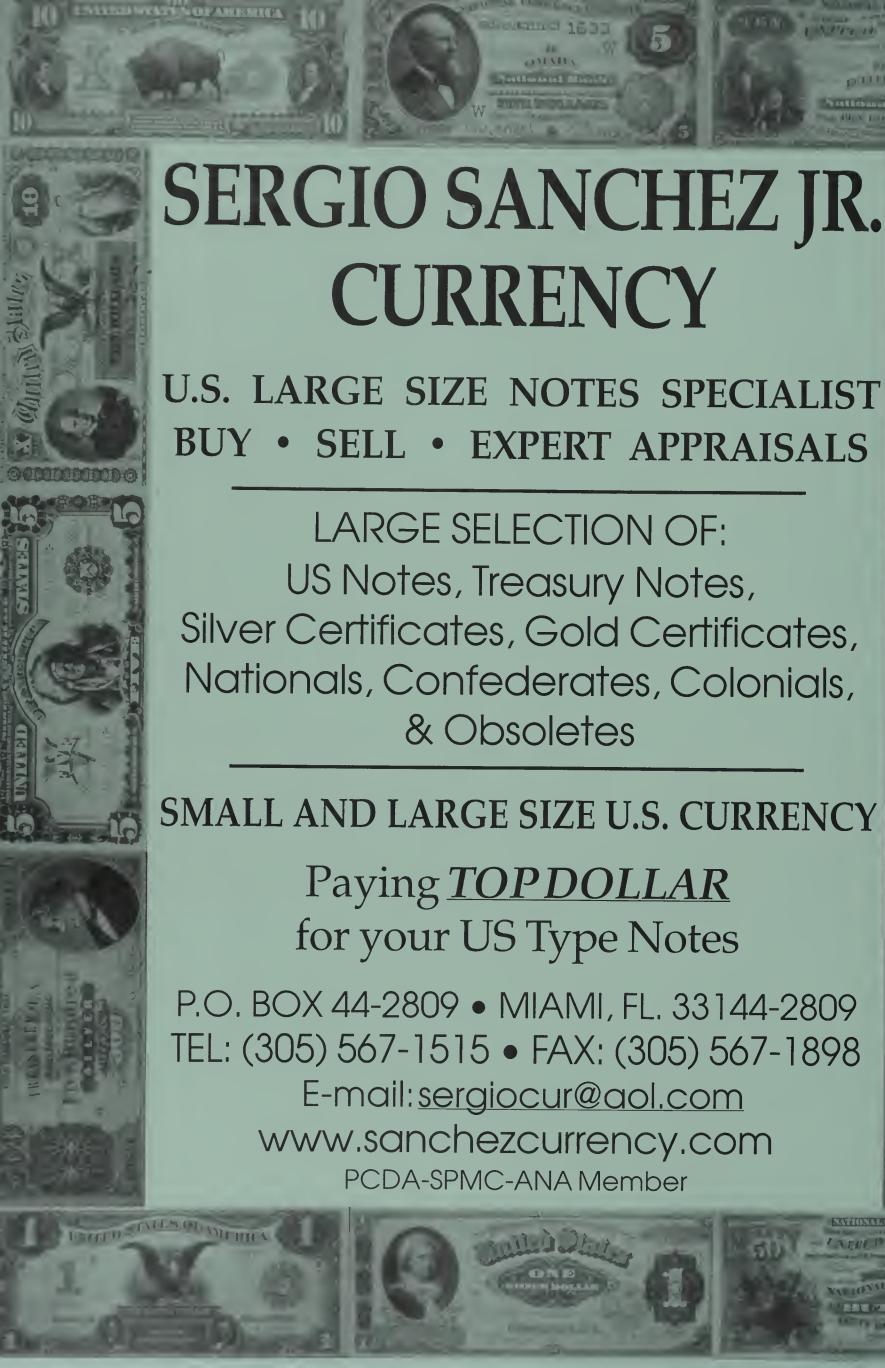

Extra Fine Circulated; may have some folds; still has some crispness.

Very Fine Some circulation; may show several folds and will have lost some of its crispness and color.

Well-circulated with little crispness remaining; edges may be rough.

Very Good Will be fairly well-soiled; may be significantly worn; might have roughness around the edges with only minute problems.

LINDNER CURRENCY ALBUMS

Collecting currency is fun but the fun comes from working with it, taking the time to study the design, to study the reasons the notes were issued, and to share your collection with your friends - both collectors and neophytes. Hand a person as tack of notes in just holder is OK for a dealer to show a knowledgeable collector, but otherwise does not work. I have a very considerable collection of Boston Obsolete Banknotes and the organization that the Lindner Album offers me plus the pride I get when I show my notes is worth more than the cost of the album. Tom Denly

BROWN BACKS & RED SEALS STRONG CONTINENTAL AND COLONIAL CURRENCY ADDED

ACTIVITY

. .across the market

by Kevin Foley

The recent Memphis International Paper Money Show might be regarded as two separate commercial events, both yielding distinctly different impressions as to the vitality of demand for collectable Paper Money. The bourse area, while certainly large by specialty event standards, was off significantly in size from last year. Booth holders reported mixed results. As one dealer put it, "If every show was like this for me, I'd be happy, but this is Memphis and it should have been better."

My own subjective impression is that there was a definite lack of excitement on the bourse floor, with those in attendance remarking that there were few new deals being offered. In the past, Memphis has been a show where dealers held back special items just for this event. The cumulative effect of many such offerings has typically created an air of excitement. It just seemed to be lacking this year.

The auction was another story, with the R.M. Smythe sale surpassing the $3 million mark for the first time in the annals of that company. The percentages actually sold in the various categories were:

Colonial and Continental	98%	Obsolete	87%
Confederate	93%	Large Size	84%
Fractional	94%	Stocks and Bonds	83%
Small Size	89%	Foreign	74%
Nationals	87%

In contrast to the bourse, the auction seemed a commercially vital event. This is really quite typical of the evolution of the rare currency market over the past decade. Sellers are increasingly offering their best items via the auction route, convinced that the typical auction commission offers them a larger share of the ultimate selling price than does a direct sale to a dealer at the typical wholesale discount. The auction alternative has also been accepted as a more efficient way of locating the ultimate buyer for an item and compelling him to disclose his top purchase price via the competitive bidding process.

LARGE SIZE TYPE NOTES

Large Size Type results from the Memphis auction confirm our observations that prices have not only stabilized but are beginning to advance. The single Gem Bison Note offered went for $4,370, certainly more consistent with the results associated with the past stronger market than levels of one to two years ago. Likewise, three Gem $1 1899 Silvers in the sale approached and surpassed the $1,000 level, continuing to display their recent strength. The highest price achieved was for a Gem $20 1905 Gold Technicolor Note. It was estimated at $17,500-$25,000 and sold for $19,550.

SMALL SIZE TYPE NOTES

The Small Size Type section contained a better than typical offering of Star Notes, which have been a particular focus of buyer attention recently. This trend continued and the results for these specialty items were generally quite strong when measured by pre-sale estimates. One of the most impressive results, for a non Star, was the offering of a $5

1929 San Francisco Federal Reserve Bank Note in Choice AU condition. Estimated at $2,500-$3,500, it actually sold for $8,913.

FRACTIONAL CURRENCY

The Fractional section of the Memphis auction was not especially large. Hence it is difficult to generalize as to overall strength based on such limited results. In general, however, Fractionals seemed to sell from slightly below to within estimate ranges, with few items showing the kind of runaway Bidding which more often characterizes a stronger field, such as National Bank Notes.

NATIONAL BANK NOTES

Nationals comprised the largest section in the auction. Results for rarities confirmed that buyers are continually willing to pay particularly strong prices, by historical standards, for rare items. A California discovery piece of the El Centro National Bank, a $20 1902 Blue Seal, was estimated at $7,500-$12,500 and actually sold for $17,825. Another rare piece, which did quite well, was the Fine+ $5 First Charter of Union City, Indiana, estimated at $3,000-$4,000 and selling for $8,625. Another desirable item doing well was the Serial #1 $5 Omaha, Nebraska Red Seal in EF. Estimated at $5,000-$7,000, it sold for $10,350.

A VF-EF $10 1882 Brown Back, issued by the First National Bank of Seabright, New Jersey, carried an estimate of $4,000-$6,000 and sold for $10,350. Another Serial #1 Red Seal selling well was a VF $5 issued by the Farmers National Bank of Mullica Hill, New Jersey. It was estimated at $10,000-$15,000 but actually went for $24,150. It was one of only four Nationals in the Memphis Sale surpassing the $20,000 mark. The others were a $50 Red Seal in VF-EF issued by the National Bank of Rochester, NY, a $100 Red Seal issued by the First National Bank of Reading, Pennsylvania and a Conroe, Texas $10 Red Seal. The Rochester Red Seal sold for $27,600 while the Conroe, Texas Note yielded $43,700, the top result for a National in the Memphis auction. The Reading $100 Red Seal sold for $20,700.

Results overall confirmed the continuing interest of buyers in Brown Backs and Red Seals as especially favored Types to acquire. In general, the results for Nationals were consistent with recent patterns of strength, with bargain hunters and bottom feeders likely to have been disappointed. Buyers for Nationals are willing to pay more than ever before to acquire items they regard as rare and/or desirable. One dealer remarked to me recently that he feels prices have advanced so far that Nationals can no longer be a hobby for the typical middle class buyer. Whether this is a dangerous trend which will result in a narrowing of the buyer base, or whether the field has simply expanded into being discovered by a whole new universe of buyers is a question which will be answered by future price trends in this field.

MISCELLANEOUS

Memphis results for specialties, not generally reported here in depth, can be gauged to some extent by the percentage of items sold in the auction noted above. While the 74% sold rate for foreign appears less than impressive when compared to the results for more widely collected areas, it is actually better than the norm for this field, which only recently has begun to have any significant offerings in the U.S. auction markets.

COLLECTING LARGE SIZE NOTES BY SIGNATURE COMBINATION

by Sergio Sanchez, Jr.

I have covered the subject of collecting by "Signature Combination" in several previous articles. This is a fascinating way to collect U.S. Paper Money and in this article I would like to cover, in depth, another interesting series.

The "Jackass" Notes.... These are the 10 Dollar Legal Tender Notes dated from 1869 to 1880. These have the designated Friedberg Numbers from FR. 96 through FR. 113.

This article will cover the various designs, number of Notes printed, and total Notes known in both Circulated and Uncirculated condition. There is also a comprehensive chart which shows the scarcity of the various Friedberg Numbers.

The design of this series has the portrait of Daniel Webster who was a U.S. Congressman and Senator and also served as Secretary of State in the mid 1800's. The engraver was Alfred Sealey, the vignette on the bottom right face has the Indian Princess Pocahontas being presented to England's Royal Court.

These Notes are known by the nickname "Jackass" because the Eagle at the bottom center of the face of the note, if turned upside down, and you let your imagination take over, it does look like the head of a Jackass. I would really like to know the identity of the person that took the time to do that, I bet he would have never known he would make the "Jackass" nickname, history.

There are a total of 18 signature combinations starting with the 1869 FR. 96 Rainbow Ten, which is known for its array of fascinating colors, and the famous Spinner Signature. This series also has 6 different color seal varieties. These are, the Large Red; Small Red with Rays; Large Brown; Large Red Plain; Large Red with Spikes; and the Small Red Scalloped. There are also 2 colors of Serial Numbers, red and blue, and 2 different reverses.

A (1

After examining the chart, you can see what remains of over 56 million Notes printed is a mere 1362 Notes. This is as of the March 2003 Martin Gengerke U.S. Paper Money Census.

This again underlines how scarce Paper Money is. Please notice that there are 2 Friedberg Numbers, FR. 97 and FR.109, with no surviving examples reported in Uncirculated condition to date. For Friedberg Numbers FR.104 and Fr.112, only one example is known of each, in Uncirculated condition.

The challenge is that only 2, yes only 2 complete Friedberg Number sets of the "Jackass" series are possible since there are only 2 Friedberg 109's known. For the one or two lucky collectors that are able to complete a set, that feat would be quite a historic accomplishment. Even collecting the series without FR. 109, which would be 17 different Notes by signature combination, would be quite a deed.

Collecting Paper Money is a lot of fun and very exciting no matter which way you collect it, but the most important thing is for it to be fun and instructive. There is so much to learn about Paper Money that I know you could keep yourself busy for a long time. Of course the more interesting and intriguing it is, the easier it is to recruit friends, family members, and others to join this fascinating hobby. I particularly like the challenge of putting complete sets together, by Signature Combinations, though I know it is not for everyone.

This article has addressed the total number of signature combinations known for the series, the number of Notes in Circulated and Uncirculated condition and the many possible sets that can be assembled for this series. I hope this information will be helpful and instructive.

Have lots of fun and happy hunting!

LINDNER CURRENCY ALBUMS

Collecting currency is fun but the fun comes from working with it, taking the time to study the design, to study the reasons the notes were issued, and to share your collection with your friends - both collectors and neophytes. Hand a person a stack of notes in just a holder is OK for a dealer to show a knowledgeable collector, but otherwise does not work. I have a very considerable collection of Boston Obsolete Banknotes and the organization that the Lindner Album offers me plus the pride I get when I show my notes is worth more than the cost of the album.

NATIONAL BANK NOTES LEAD MARKET MARKET FOCUSES ON AUCTIONS

. . .across the market

by Kevin Foley

The past month has been noteworthy as much for what didn't take place as for what did, i.e., that for the first time in many months there were no major auction sales involving significant quantities of collectable Paper Money.

Over the past decade there has been a definite shift in how sellers elect to market Paper Money, with the better material increasingly gravitating towards auctions rather than being sold privately. This process has tended to become even more pronounced over the past couple of years and was especially evident at the past Memphis International Paper Money Show. Memphis had for many years been an event which both collectors and dealers attended with the expectation that they would have an opportunity to purchase new material which has not been endlessly brought from show to show by the booth holders in the increasingly forlorn hope of finally finding a home for the item. At the Memphis show the complaint that there was little, if any, fresh material offered on the bourse floor was a lament heard by many of the attendees.

Better material is simply finding its way onto the market more and more through the auction process. Some of the results obtained at auction for rare items, especially Nationals, over the past several years have been especially impressive. Other sellers take note of such results and make the altogether rational decision that the best way to find the top of the market for an item is through the competitive Bidding process.

LARGE SIZE TYPE NOTES

The market for Large Size Type has become stronger over the past six months than it had been over the past two years. After showing a definite downward adjustment, prices have again been advancing recently. This is especially true for Choice and Gem Uncirculated Notes, where prices are clearly and consistently higher than the lows they reached a year or so ago after a period of decline. While the market for six figure rarities remains far spottier than it was four to five years ago, there is evidence of a comeback, if not in price levels themselves, at least from the standpoint of increased liquidity, with buyers again entering the market and paying levels which sellers are willing to accept.

SMALL SIZE TYPE NOTES

The strength here continues to be in the scarce to rare Star Notes, with purchasers willing to pay escalating prices for better material. The buyer logic seems to be quite similar to that evident when better Nationals are offered at auction, i.e., the realization that some Star Notes are simply so scarce that another buying opportunity may not arise for some time and when it does levels are likely to be even higher than at present. This leads to buyers placing primary emphasis on acquiring an item, with the issue of the price to be paid becoming a secondary consideration.

FRACTIONAL CURRENCY

The emphasis in the Fractional specialty continues to be rarity and quality. Well centered Notes, especially among the scarcer Friedberg numbers, provoke considerable buyer excitement when offered. Off center and more common material exist in far greater quantities than there are buyers interested in such items. As a result, prices for this type of material continue to be less than robust and the velocity of turnover from dealers' inventories can be quite disappointing to sellers.

NATIONAL BANK NOTES

Nationals continue to enjoy the strongest demand ever in the annals of this specialty. Once one moves beyond a handful of the most abundant banks, even institutions which were regarded as relatively common a few years ago can be a challenge to locate if the buyer is looking for those specific banks.

Prices for rare Nationals have moved to the point where one has to question if this has become a pursuit where the typical middle class hobbyist can hope to participate and build a meaningful collection containing rarer showcase material.

If one reviews auction results for Nationals it is evident that a $10,000 price tag has become, if not commonplace, certainly not the major news it would have been a decade ago. Indeed, in a major auction with hundreds of Nationals, especially such a sale offering one or more major collections, the $10,000 price plateau is surpassed with surprising regularity.

As price results for Nationals have moved ever higher at auction, the rising levels have had the effect of encouraging more and more sellers to come forward and offer their material through the process they have seen to be so successful for others in the recent past. The process then feeds on itself, with the most prominent sale results taking place at auction, causing buyers to increasingly focus their search efforts there. At the same time this process encourages holders of significant collections to see auctions as their first choice when selling. Since the typical collector of Nationals has taken many years to form his collection, it is in just such a holding that the highest proportion of rare items which have been off the market for many years will logically be found. Since this is just the kind of material that there is the greatest buyer thirst for, one can quite readily see that the community of potential consignors and the community of potential buyers have set in motion, a complimentary process where the latest extraordinary results for scarce items, call forth into a future auction more of the very kind of material most likely to achieve such results again.

MISCELLANEOUS

Confederate material continues to enjoy an especially strong level of demand. Stocks and Bonds, while occasionally achieving selectively impressive results, continue to be a thinly collected specialty area not offering the same degree of liquidity as other collecting areas commented on here.

Small Size $2 Red Seals

by Joe Sande

The Small Size $2 Bill was introduced sometime after January 10, 1929 as the series 1928, and discontinued on August 10 1966 as series 1963A. These were United States Notes with red seals and red serial numbers.

United States Notes are the longest lived U.S. Currency, first issue in 1862. The Act of May 3, 1878 required that an outstanding amount of $346,681,016 be maintained. When the Treasury adopted the new Small Size Currency, the United States Notes issued were $2 and $5 denominations with a relatively small production of $1 Notes. Later, $100 U.S. Notes were also issued. The issue of Red Seal $2 Bills consisted of approximately 545 million Notes over 37 years or nearly 32 percent of all Small Size United States Notes.

The key Note is the 1928B series with a printing of just over 9 million Notes. A Gem CU example wholesales at about $1,150-$1,275 versus $50 for the very common 1928D, F and G series. In the VF grade the 1928B Notes wholesales for about $75. The next scarcest Note is the 1928E, which has a lower printing of about 6.5 million Notes but is more readily available and wholesales for about $85 in Gem CU. The 1928A with a printing of nearly 47 million Notes is the most difficult $2 Red Seal to find in true CU condition. There are many AU and mishandled Uncs available. Nice Gem CU examples wholesale as much as $300-$400.

Some years ago, several original packs of 1928 series Notes surfaced and were dispersed slowly into the marketplace. These have now disappeared altogether and many dealers wish they could find some from this small hoard as all were nice original Notes. Today, a 1928 series Note wholesales for about $70 in Gem when one can be found. Original packs of any 1928 series Notes are rarely found.

A common problem with all 1928 series $2 Notes is finding specimens that are well centered. This creates a substantial price disparity between off center and well centered examples. For a 1928C Note the difference is $100 versus $200.

Within the various 1928 series $2 Notes there are variety rarities, such as the 1928C Mule and 1928D B-A block non-mule. Both Notes wholesale in circulated grades at around the $2,000-$2,500 level. I am not aware of any CU Notes.

Each 1928 series printing did not end at a specific serial number range. Printings of each series overlapped each other. This had the effect of creating changeover pairs where two consecutive serial numbered Notes were each of a different series. The reason for this was the high cost of engraved plates and the fact the signatures were engraved on the plates. Thus, these plates were used after an official left office and when new plates were made for a new official, both plates were used simultaneously for face printing and printed Notes from both series were placed on the same stack. When the serial numbers were applied, changeover pairs were created.

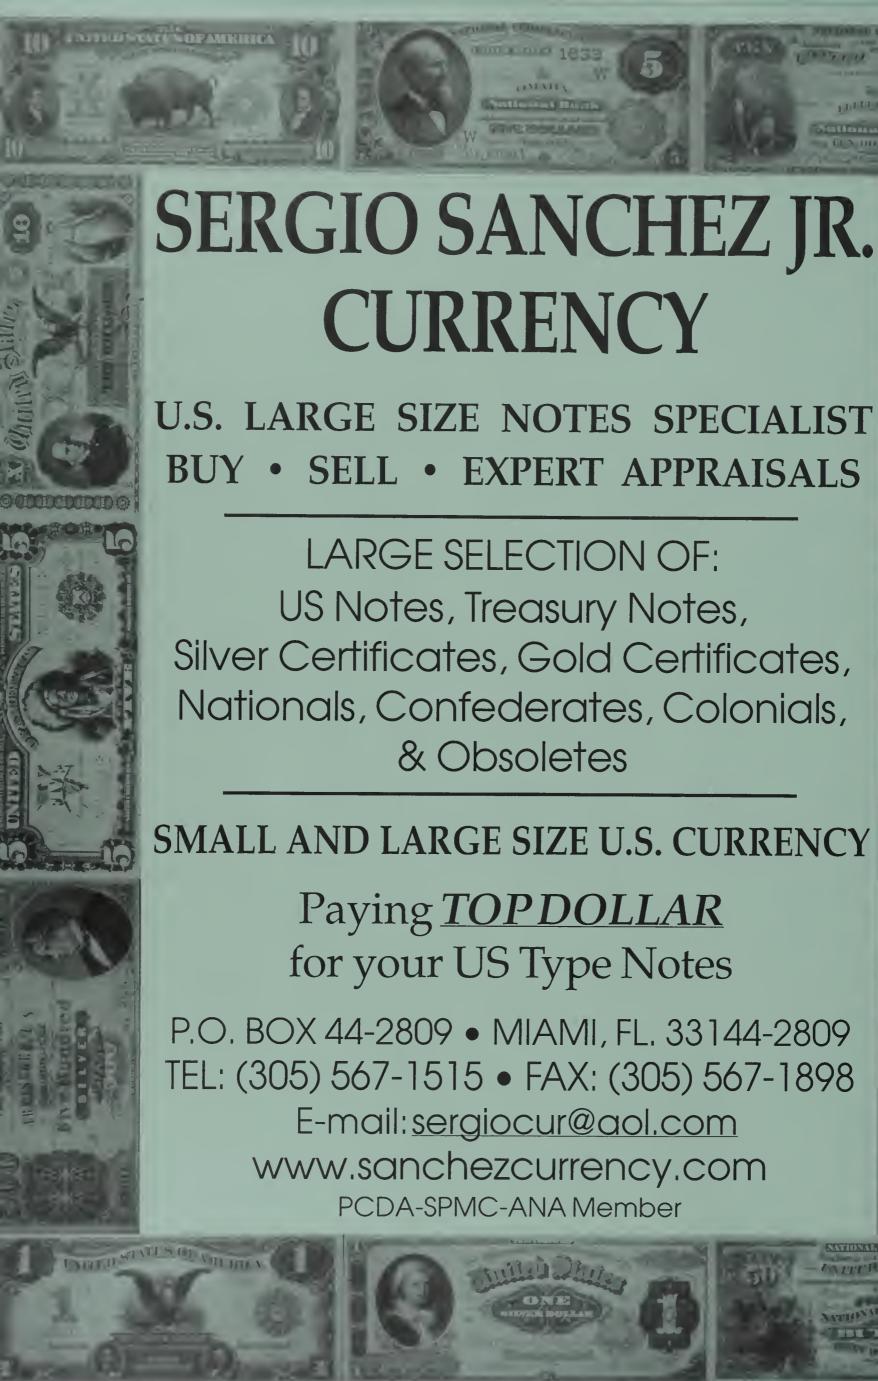

The 1953 series had a printing in excess of 45 million Notes. This series reflected a design change from a large Treasury Seal on the left side of the front of the Note and a large grey TWO on the right side, to a smaller seal over a smaller grey TWO on the right side of the Note. A grey 2 was then added to the left side of the Note. The obligation remained the same. The printings for 1953A, B, and C dropped dramatically to 18 million, 10.8 million and 5.76 million respectively, because of lack of demand. In general, these Two Dollar Bills were popular at race tracks and in factory pay envelopes, the latter being phased out and replaced with paychecks. There are no rarities in this series. In 1963, the Motto, "In God We Trust" was added to the reverse and the obligation was changed to eliminate "at its face value." The 1963 printing amounted to 15.36 million Notes while the 1963A printing was only 3.2 million.

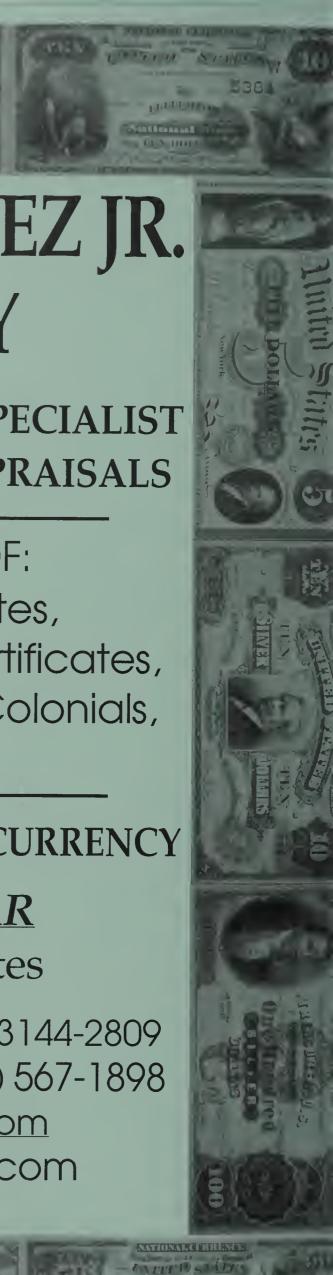

Both 1953 and 1963 series Notes are readily available in Uncirculated condition and can still be found in original packs. Uncirculated specimens wholesale in the $8-$12 range. Some people believed all Two Dollar Bills brought bad luck and would not accept them. Others did not want them because of their use at race tracks or with prostitutes. In order to ward off "evil," people would tear off a corner of a Two Dollar Bill immediately upon receipt. Sometimes all four corners were torn off.

LINDNER CURRENCY ALBUMS

Collecting currency is fun but the fun comes from working with it, taking the time to study the design, to study the reasons the notes were issued, and to share your collection with your friends - both collectors and neophytes. Hand a person a stack of notes in just a holder is OK for a dealer to show a knowledgeable collector, but otherwise does not work. I have a very considerable collection of Boston Obsolete Banknotes and the organization that the Lindner Album offers me plus the pride I get when I show my notes is worth more than the cost of the album.

MARKET MAINTAINS STRENGTH NATIONALS SOUGHT BY COLLECTORS

. .across the market

by Kevin Foley

As has been typical for much of the past decade, the most significant transactions in the Paper Money marketplace over the past month took place at auction venues, specifically two sales conducted by Lyn Knight Currency Auctions, the first on August 2 in conjunction with the American Numismatic Association Baltimore convention and the second in Dallas, Texas August 21-23.

Both sales support the observation that the marketplace for collectable Currency remains remarkably vigorous given overall uncertainties in the larger economy and the fact that Currency collecting is a discretionary activity hardly necessary to anyone's essential well being. Large Size Type, especially the highest quality Large Size Type, continues to show increasing strength from the lows reached a few years ago. Small Size Type buyers continue to increase their focus on scarcer items, while buyers of National Bank Notes continue to pay prices which support the overall observation that the determination of values in that field has been radically transformed and moved to a substantially higher plateau than buyers were ever willing or able to support in the past.

It should also be observed that the World Banknote field, one which the Knight firm has featured prominently over the past two years, saw a somewhat broadening purchaser reception in Dallas, with the percentage of items sold being 73% versus the more typical success rate of roughly 65%.

LARGE SIZE TYPE

Large Size Type continues to recover from the lower levels reached roughly two years ago. Buyers continue to focus on the very highest quality Notes. There are also indications of an increased willingness on the part of selected buyers to support the market for the ultra rarities which typically command six figure prices when they do sell.

Four notes in the Knight ANA sale carried six figure estimates, a Fr. 306b $20 1878 Legal Tender bearing serial #1, a $50 First Charter National from Danville, Illinois, as well as $50 and $100 Value Backs issued by the Canal-Commercial National Bank of New Orleans. Although all four pieces failed to reach the low end of their respective estimates, they did all sell, a departure from the results for such rarities in the market for this type of material a year or more ago, when it was not at all uncommon to see such items bought back by the consignor.

The overall percentage of Large Size Notes that actually sold at the ANA auction was 80% and at the much larger Dallas Knight sale 97%.

SMALL SIZE TYPE

Small Size results in the Knight Dallas sale appeared quite consistent with recent auctions, with little indication of any change in direction here. A $2 1928B Legal Tender described as Superb Gem sold for $1,840, while a Superb "R" and "S" pair also cataloged as Gem went for $1,093. The most expensive single lot was a $1,000 1928 Dallas FRN cataloged as CGA Gem 66 and estimated at $25,000-$35,000. It actually sold for $18,410. Overall, 87% of the Small Size lots offered in Dallas actually sold, certainly a figure indicative of a relatively healthy market with a convergence of buyer and seller opinions as to current levels

FRACTIONAL CURRENCY

The two August sales conducted by Lyn Knight failed to include a sufficient amount of Fractional Currency to reach any conclusions about market direction from their sale results. Overall, however, it would appear based on anecdotal reports by dealers in this area that the focus of buyer activity continues to be for Notes which are scarce to rare and those at the upper end of the quality spectrum.

NATIONAL BANK NOTES

Nationals continue to experience demand at an apparently redefined higher level for all types of material from common to rare and well circulated to the very highest quality. Being collected primarily by bank within a given state or region within a state, the supply of most any bank, even one considered to be common by Paper Money collecting standards, can be a challenge to locate if one is seeking that specific bank. Thus, even a relatively small increase in buyers can cause upward pressure on prices. That is exactly what appears to have taken place over the past several years. At the same time, the new population of buyers seems to have considerably greater economic potential to bring to bear in their collecting pursuits than past generations of collectors.

Collectables often become worth the supply of funds available to seek them and that would seem to be a factor driving the prices of this specialty segment higher, i.e. that there are newer active buyers who simply have and are willing to spend more to acquire what they want.

Among the more noteworthy results for Nationals in the Dallas Knight sale were the $57,500 reached for an EF $1 Missoula, Montana Territory First Charter; $20,700 achieved for a F/VF $50 1902 Red Seal issued by the National Newark (NJ) Banking Company; $20,125 for a Fine $10 1902 Red Seal issued by the Silver City, New Mexico Territory National Bank; $18,400 for a serial #1 1902 Red Seal in VF/EF on the National Bank of Kinston, NC and $48,300 for a $50 Red Seal in VF on the Citizens National Bank of Watertown, SD.

Overall, the ANA auction enjoyed an 87% sale rate for Nationals and the Knight Dallas sale a 93% rate. Nationals are stronger than at any time in their collecting history and show every sign of remaining so or perhaps even growing stronger.

MISCELLANEOUS

Both Obsolete and Confederate material continue to enjoy strong demand, Confederate especially so. Stocks and Bonds continue to remain a specialty market with thinner secondary market prospects than for other paper collecting areas.

The next opportunity the collecting community will have to participate in a broadly based major currency auction will be the Currency Auctions of America sale to be held in late September in conjunction with the Greater Cincinnati Numismatic Expo in suburban Sharonville, OH

MISSOURI NATIONALS ATTRACT COLLECTORS

by J. L. Laws

Bids for National Bank Notes on the whole have been steadily moving upward. The state of Missouri is no exception. Being a midwest state, one would tend to think many Notes would be available and that it would not be difficult to collect most of the banks. However, quite the opposite is true, even with the relatively large amount of charters issuing Notes, 265 in all. St. Louis and Jackson County were two of the largest issuers of Nationals, since they contained two of Missouri's most populated cities: St. Louis and Kansas City. There are several different suburbs surrounding these two cities which make collecting a challenge. Many collectors chose to collect only small towns where three or less Notes may have been reported. Towns such as Jackson, Palmyra and Milan are readily sought out by all types of collectors whether they are specialty Missouri collectors or not. Towns with interesting names such as the FNB of Mexico, FNB of Polo and City NB of Green City are just a few of the scarcer Missouri Nationals that are collected just because of their name. However one the most elusive Notes ever issued by a Missouri bank was the Bankers World's Fair NB of St. Louis #7179. This Bank issued Red Seal $50 & $100 Notes, unfortunately for collectors all of them were redeemed.

Collecting St. Louis and surrounding suburbs remain one of the most popular ways to collect Missouri Nationals due to the wide variety of city & suburban banks. Two of the most common St. Louis Banks to collect are Merchants-Laclede #5002 and National Bank of Commerce #4178. These banks are readily available in all grades and price ranges. One can easily purchase a low grade Large Size 1902 Date Back or Plain Back for under $100, where as prices for Gem $5 - $20 Brownbacks can easily top $3,000. Suburban banks surrounding the St. Louis area are especially tough due to the demand by local and national collectors. The FNB of Carondelet is the scarcest with none reported. Manchester, which is also a very desirable Note, is very scarce with two reported, however more are believed to exist. Small Size varieties offer more choices with banks such as Clayton, Luxemburg, Maplewood, and Wellston being readily available in auctions and stocked by dealers. Luxemburg is available in Uncirculated condition as a pack was discovered many years ago, however it is not an easy Note to acquire as many collectors pick-up what ever comes on the market. The last Luxemburg National to sell at auction was a 1929 $10 Type 2 that brought $330 in Lyn Knight's Discovery Sale. Wellston is another town that is readily available in most grades. A VG-Fine will cost $60-$100. St. Louis offers a wide variety of charter numbers, denominations, and signa-

Smaller towns in Missouri offer the collector a variety of choices of towns and charter periods. One of the most readily available First Charter Notes in high grade is The Moniteau National Bank of California MO #1712. There are well over fifty $1 & $2 First Charters reported on the bank in CU to GEM CU. When they come up for sale they will likely trade for around Greensheet levels. The Brown Backs and Plain Backs on California MO Nationals are much scarcer to find and command premiums. First Charter Missouri Notes command a big premium over the more common California. For example, in the recent Lyn Knight Dallas Sale, a First Charter Palmyra #1735 commanded over $9,000. Other Banks such as the Boone County National Bank of Columbia #1770 and The Exchange NB of Columbia are extremely popular, due to the fact that

Columbia is home to the University of Missouri. For many collectors who have ties to central Missouri, Columbia Nationals are a must whether they collect Nationals or not. Prices realized at auction reflect this activity. For example, an 1882 $20

Brown Back on the Exchange National Bank of Columbia realized $1,200 in the Scotsman Monumental Sale earlier this summer. The Union National Bank of Springfield with 14 Small Size Notes reported, is available, but not usually for any extended period of time. Generally smaller Missouri college towns will trade at higher levels such as Cape Girardeau, Kirksville, Springfield, Columbia, Rolla and Warrensburg. This is due, in part, because alumni would appreciate a memento from their college

Missouri offers a variety of choices for collectors on any budget, with a wide range of banks and charter issues in which to choose. Many bargains can be found from Paper Money dealers at times. However, recent auction results do not agree with this thought.

LINDNER CURRENCY ALBUMS

Collecting currency is fun but the fun comes from working with it, taking the time to study the design, to study the reasons the notes were issued, and to share your collection with your friends - both collectors and neophytes. Hand a person a stack of notes in just a holder is OK for a dealer to show a knowledgeable collector, but otherwise does not work. I have a very considerable collection of Boston Obsolete Banknotes and the organization that the Lindner Album offers me plus the pride I get when I show my notes is worth more than the cost of the album.

NATIONALS EXCEPTIONALLY STRONG MILITARY PAYMENT CERTIFICATES - AN UPDATE

. . .across the market

by Kevin Foley

Current market levels established over the past year remained in effect over the past month. R.M. Smythe & Co., held an auction in conjunction with its Strasburg, Pennsylvania show which generally confirmed the previous levels of demand and buyer interest for the offered material. Sell through for the different types of material, with offerings in excess of 100 lots each in the Strasburg sale, are indicated above by the percentages of lots actually sold. Five of the individual lots of Confederate material in the sale sold in excess of $10,000 each, with all five selling within or above their estimate ranges, tending to confirm the strength of buyer demand for scarce to rare Confederate material.

Confederate 95% Obsolete 95% Colonial 93% Nationals 85% Foreign 65%

LARGE SIZE TYPE

The market for Large Size Type appears to have strengthened considerably from the lows reached one to two years ago. Demand for the highest quality Gem Notes continues to increase and prices here are especially strong. Gem Notes displaying virtually perfect centering, superior original embossing and paper body continue to regularly sell for prices as strong or stronger than those achieved at any time during the past twenty years. While the less than 100 lots of Large Size Type offered in the Strasburg sale is too small a sample to draw any generalizations from, the Currency Auctions of America Cincinnati auction, being held just after our deadline, encompasses roughly 500 lots in this specialty and will be the subject of our comments next month.

It should also be noted, once again, that Large Size Type price results achieved at auction remain especially dependent on eye appeal, with nice centering frequently resulting in a Note of a lower technical grade achieving a higher price than a less well centered Note of a higher technical grade. While grade is certainly a factor in determining value, it is just that, one of several factors. Nice looking Notes of a technically lower grade regularly sell, both at auction and in private transactions, for more than Notes of a higher grade which simply don't look quite as nice.

Marketplace participants should continue to bear the following statement in mind; grade does not equate directly to price.

SMALL SIZE TYPE

The Strasburg sale included among its 79 lots of Small Size Type a 1928 $5,000 Federal Reserve Note cataloged as Uncirculated. Estimated at $50,000-$70,000, it sold for $74,750. A $500

1928 Gold Certificate described as Very Fine and estimated at $3,000-$5,000 sold for $4,715, while a $1,000 1928 Gold Certificate described as Choice VF/EF and estimated at $6,000-$10,000 went for $10,925.

FRACTIONAL CURRENCY

The highest value Fractional item in the Strasburg auction was a Gray Shield estimated at $4,000-$6,000. It sold for $3,105. The balance of the Fractionals in the sale generally sold within or below estimate ranges, with only scattered lots exceeding their estimates. Except for the very rarest pieces and those of exceptional quality, Fractional Currency is not the hottest of collecting specialties at present.

NATIONAL BANK NOTES

Nationals in the Strasburg auction tended to sell within to above estimate ranges, with a far smaller percentage selling below estimate than for the Fractional Currency sold there. Given the recent strength of overall collector demand for National Bank Notes this is not at all surprising. Among the scarcer offerings, in the just shy of 150 Note National section in Strasburg, was a $10 1882 Brown Back issued by The First NB of Alexandria, LA and cataloged as Fine. Estimated at $2,500-$4,500, it sold for $4,370. Other scarcer Nationals included a $10 1902 issued by the Evanston, Wyoming National Bank. Described as Fine and estimated at $2,250-$3,000, it sold for $3,220.

A VF+ $10 1902 from the First National Bank of Yakima, Washington sold for $4,370 against an estimate of $2,000-$3,000, while a Serial #1 $5 1929 Type 1, issued by The First National Bank of Painted Post, NY and cataloged as a Gem went for $4,600 versus the estimate of $3,000-$4,000. Another scarce National sold at Strasburg was a $10 1902 in Fine issued by The First National Bank of Canastota, NY with a known population of just four Large Size pieces in the Kelly census. Estimated at $750-$1,250, it actually sold for $2,760, reflecting recent strength in the New York marketplace which became especially evident during the May Central States auction conducted by Currency Auctions of America.

A $10 1902 in Choice EF issued by The First National Bank of Blue Hill, Nebraska estimated at $5,000-$7,500 sold for $3,680 while a $10 1902 from The First National Bank of St. Helens, Oregon and cataloged as VG-F went for $1,898 against the presale estimate of $1,000-$1,500.

MISCELLANEOUS

The Strasburg auction confirmed the strength of demand for scarce Confederate pieces with a VG-F Ty. 1 $1,000 selling for $21,275, a VG Ty. 2 $500 achieving $18,400 and a $100 Ty. 3 in VF-EF yielding $13,800.

Military Payment Certificates an update....

by Fred Schwan

The Military Payment Certificate (MPC) market remains strong. Of course this strength varies among the sub sectors, but they are all strong.

The highest prices and fiercest competition is for Notes in super condition. This extends even to Notes that either are relatively common or at least were considered as such only a few years ago. In my opinion, some of these prices might be excessive for the late issues (all of which were printed by the BEP). While I might be wrong about these prices being too high, the flip side of this opinion has to be good advice. The really nice examples of the earlier issues, while strong, are still undervalued compared to the later issues in my opinion. More specifically, I give a strong buy to Gem Notes before Series 611.

Of course the most important reason that these issues are underpriced is that they are just too darn hard to find. When it comes to key Notes, the situation is extreme.

The matter of rarity of these issues is demonstrated by the sale of the Gem Series 541 $5 from the Marv Mericle collection in February. This Note sold for a stunning world record $16,000, yet it was not so surprising. What was surprising was that this price was not enough to suck a few more out of old time collections. They are rare and the few in collections are in strong hands.

Much of the speculation concerning multiple printings has ended and a more orderly market has developed in these obscure varieties. Collectors now recognize these items and dealers are catching on fast and auction houses are even cataloging MPC's by printing. This is a great development for the market because it expands the number of Notes needed for a collection. The flood of circulated Series 641 from Vietnam seems to have slowed down significantly, but these Notes are very common in circulated grades. Be wary of buying these even at very low prices especially if you do not know exactly what you are going to do with them.

Replacements led the MPC market in the 1990s and they are still active and strong. However, the values for the most common Notes have softened in the past year. This is a fine line. Even these common Replacements can find a loving home, it is just that it is less likely that there will be a food fight for them.

Key Replacements are an entirely different matter. More collectors (and dealers) than ever want the rare items. Notes with fewer than 10 known are avidly sought. If you are lucky enough to find one in the range of three then the dessert might fly. Of course the problem is that they are just incredibly difficult to find. No really rare Replacement Note has sold since the May collection in 2002.

Specialty items are too rare to mention. Specimens, serious errors, and fancy numbers are really popular among collectors but seldom trade.

Fred Schwan, BNR Press 132 East 2nd Street Port Clinton, Ohio 43452 419-732-6683

GRADING Sight-Seen wholesale prices are for accurately graded Notes — Certified or Raw.

An almost perfect Note. Better than average margins. No aging or fading. Gem Crisp Uncirculated Choice Crisp Uncirculated

A nice new Note but not quite Gem. Centering may be a little off. May show some aging or light counting smudges or wrinkles. Crisp Uncirculated No trace of circulation. Can have centering problems, pin holes, counting smudges, wrinkles, close margins, or a corner tip fold (not into design). Almost Uncirculated (Almost new) These will be much the same as a "new" Note except for a single fold or several corner folds.

Extra Fine Circulated; may have some folds; still has some crispness. Very Fine Some circulation; may show several folds and will have lost some of its crispness and color. Fine Well-circulated with little crispness remaining; edges may be rough.

Very Good Will be fairly well-soiled; may be significantly worn; might have roughness around the edges with only minute problems.

LINDNER CURRENCY ALBUMS

Collecting currency is fun but the fun comes from working with it, taking the time to study the design, to study the reasons the notes were issued, and to share your collection with your friends - both collectors and neophytes. Hand a person a stack of notes in just a holder is OK for a dealer to show a knowledgeable collector, but otherwise does not work. I have a very considerable collection of Boston Obsolete Banknotes and the organization that the Lindner Album offers me plus the pride I get when I show my notes is worth more than the cost of the album.

MARKET STRENGTH CONTINUES NATIONALS REMAIN HOT

. .across the market

by Kevin Foley

The marketplace for collectable Paper Money received its most recent significant test in late September when Currency Auctions of America held a 4,000+ lot sale in conjunction with The Greater Cincinnati Numismatic Exposition. A sale such as this demonstrates the strides made by currency in stepping into the numismatic mainstream over the past 15 years. The auction, held at what is essentially a solid regional coin show, grossed $3.2 million, a sum rivaling recent realizations for the Memphis Paper Money auction.

Large Size Type in Cincinnati continued to display growing strength, especially for Notes at the very upper end of the quality spectrum. Small Size Type continued to show some of the same patterns displayed over the past year, with buyer emphasis focused on rarity with a secondary emphasis on condition.

Fractional Currency remains much as it has been over the past several years, i.e. displaying demand focused primarily on rarity and superior quality, with more pedestrian material being somewhat weak.

National Bank Notes continue to display the exceptional vigor which has been their hallmark over the past year, with scarce to rare Notes continuing to bring exceptionally high prices by historical standards, especially when sold at auction.

LARGE SIZE TYPE

Large Size Type in Cincinnati continued recent trends of basically solid demand at current levels. A quantity of cut sheets of Fr. 80 $5 1880 Legal Tender Notes was absorbed by the marketplace at prices generally averaging around $900 per Note. $1 1899 Silver Certificates continued to sell at the Cincinnati auction at the higher levels than they have previously been achieving, with a number of Gem pieces selling in the range of $800-$1,000+ each. The single offering of a $2 Educational described in the CAA auction as Superb went for a healthy $5,463 against a $4,500 estimate. The lone $5 1899 Indian Chief cataloged as Superb garnered a strong $2,933 in the CAA sale. We know that the marketplace for low and fancy serials in Large Size Type remains healthy as was demonstrated by the $5,175 realization for a Serial #2 St. Louis Battleship Note in About New which had been estimated at $4,000-up. While the Cincinnati CAA sale was lacking in the Large Size Type blockbuster rarities often characterizing the firm's sales, the results showed that overall demand is solid to strengthening for Large Size Type in general.

SMALL SIZE TYPE

The CAA Cincinnati auction signaled a continuation of the recent strong demand for scarcer Star Notes within the Small Size Type specialty. A $100 Fr. 2155GH* Mule described as Choice CU and estimated at $5,500-$7,500 went for $7,763. A $20 1934D Fr. 2058G* cataloged as Gem sold for $920, somewhat above the high end of its estimate. The first reported $5 1950 Wide II Star Note, cataloged as Gem and estimated at $3,000-$5,000 just topped the high end of its estimate at $5,060.

For those of us who have been in the business for some time and can recall when it was difficult to find any Small Size Type offered on price lists or on the bourse floor, such a result clearly demonstrates that Small Size Type collecting has made giant strides over the past 20 years.

FRACTIONAL CURRENCY

Fractional Currency continues to be a relatively quiet market. What interest there is focuses on exceptionally nice quality and Notes which are quite scarce to rare. The population of Fractional Currency collectors remains relatively small compared to the population of buyers for the other specialty areas reported here and this is reflected in prices which continue to be somewhat flat over time.

NATIONAL BANK NOTES

National Bank Notes continue to be by far the most robust sector of the Paper Money market. An examination of auction catalogs over the past decade will reveal the fact that a larger overall percentage of the Notes being offered in the typical sale consists of National Bank Notes. When prices are rising in any field this pattern of market strength tends to have the effect of encouraging sellers to offer their material in order to confirm the gains which their holdings have theoretically achieved. The new offerings in a rising market then have the effect of fueling even more buyer enthusiasm as the new supplies are absorbed at even higher price levels.

Some of the more noteworthy results in the CAA Cincinnati sale included: $19,550 for a Fine $10 1929 issued by the First National Bank of Juneau, Alaska; $8,050 for a Choice CU $2 1875, the "Lazy $2" on the Home National Bank of Milford, Massachusetts; $26,450 for a $10 1902 Date Back in Fine-Very Fine issued by the First National Bank of East Aurora, NY; $9,775 for a $1 Original Series in Fine-Very Fine on the First National Bank of Geneva, NY; $27,600 for an Extremely Fine+ $50 1902 Date Back on the Farmers National Bank of Manor, Texas and $16,675 for a $1 Original in Very Fine+ on the First National Bank of Madison, WI.

Prices at the levels National Bank Note rarities are now regularly achieving could hardly have been imagined as recently as five years ago. Yet in auction after auction rare material continues to achieve results which confirm that the demand for scarce Nationals has simply reached a new level with broad support for the higher prices which are being regularly achieved. Any collectable item becomes worth the money which is seeking it and it would seem quite evident that there are simply more buyers with greater resources operating in this specialty area than at any time in the past.

MISCELLANEOUS

Obsolete and Confederate material remains in strong demand. Obsoletes continue to evolve towards a demand pattern characteristic of Nationals, with buyers seeking material based on geographic collecting specialties. The strength of this demand was especially evident in the Cincinnati Bidding for some of the New York scrip pieces, with an 8 Cent Ithaca, NY piece selling for $2,156 and selected Brooklyn scrip offerings selling for triple and quadruple estimate in the $1,500 range.

The National Bank Notes of Pennsylvania

by Alex G. Perakis

Collecting Nationals from Pennsylvania is quite a challenge, more than one can ever imagine. According to Don C. Kelly's book on Nationals, Pennsylvania has the largest number of issuing charters with 1,196 Large Size and 899 Small Size charters. There are several ways to collect PA Nationals, from the many unusual bank names, as well as collecting Charter #1, and many other categories too numerous to list. Areas that I would consider to be a bargain at this time may not remain that way in the future.

Because of the great success in selling the first government bonds that backed the Nationals, Jay Cook & Co of Philadelphia was awarded Charter

#1 which became the First National Bank of Philadelphia. Another interesting aspect about PA Nationals, especially in reference to one of the Philadelphia banks, is the Bank of North America. This bank, chartered by the rare Notes from these regions. Lancaster county is one of the great historical areas of Pennsylvania with the Amish still driving around in horse and buggies and the home of the Conestoga wagons that were driven toward the western part of this county over 100 years ago. Because of the advanced collectors there are some great buys that are not impossible to obtain at a reasonable price. One such example, a Small Size 1929 National from the Conestoga N.B. of Lancaster, a decent circulated Note could be bought for less than $300. York County was formerly a bargain area; however a few new entrants with comfortable finances have brought about very keen competition. Cambria, Alleghany, Washington, Fayette and Westmoreland counties in western Pennsylvania are collected by a few individuals who also are quite advanced.

There are some great National Bank names that one could collect such as; Big Run, Birdsboro, Gap, Honeybrook, Dry Run, Mauch Chunk (now renamed Jim Thorpe), Fawn Grove, Castle Shannon, Red Lion, Jersey Shore, Ringtown, Roaring Spring, Scenery Hill, Seven Valleys, Hop Bottom, Turtle Creek, Picture Rocks, Shingle House, Slippery Rock, and finally, how about

A person could assemble a collection of feminine names such as Ashley, Cassandra, Elizabeth, Jeanette, Juniata, Lilly, Mildred, Donora, and Sharon. How about a collection of male names like Austin, Arnold, Cecil, Chester, Corry, Dale, Franklin, Hays, Jerome, Howard, Lincoln, Milton, Montgomery, Roscoe, Siegfried, Troy, Vernon, Wayne and Wilson. A National for someone named above would be a great gift for the person who has everything.

We might also include PA Grange Banks originated by a Farmers Co-op of which there are a total of 12. These banks issued both Small and Large, except Sligo and Mansfield who issued Large only. Most are all scarce and rare. Another interesting area is the Black Charter Notes, used only on Five Dollar Originals and 1875's as explained on page 32 of the book, "National Bank Notes 3rd Edition," Don C. Kelly (a must for National Coltors). PA accounts for two of these and ssibly a third on the Green Lane NB,

Charter 2131 which is not reported; Boyertown, Charter 2137 has 5 reported, and Schwenksville, Charter 2142, still unique as only one is re-

PA Nationals have also contributed five Greek named banks to my collection: Apollo, Parnassus, Spartansburg, Athens and Delta. The first three are on the western side of the state, Athens in the northeast and Delta in York County. I opted for Troy, New York as I could not find a large

Collecting currency is fun but the fun comes from working with it, taking the time to study the design, to study the reasons the notes were issued, and to share your collection with your friends - both collectors and neophytes. Hand a person a stack of notes in just a holder is OK for a dealer to show a knowledgeable collector, but otherwise does not work. I have a very considerable collection of Boston Obsolete Banknotes and the organization that the Lindner Album offers me plus the pride I get when I show my notes is worth more than the cost of the album.

NATIONAL BANK NOTES LEAD MARKET SMALL SIZE STAR NOTES IMPRESSIVE

by Kevin Foley

The 18th Annual National and World Paper Money Convention was held in St. Louis the weekend prior to Thanksgiving and featured a three session auction aggregating nearly 5,000 lots of world and United States currency.

United States Paper Money collecting specialties seemed, in the auction, to reflect strength levels consistent with the recent past. National Bank Notes continue to enjoy intense buyer interest with whatever uncertainty there is as to realizations for scarce to rare material at auction existing primarily on the up side, with consistently strong results for such material.

Small Size Type continued to display strong buyer interest focused on scarcer specialty items, such as Star Notes. Large Size Type continues to be characterized by an overall consolidation and strengthening trend in price levels. One exception to this is the marketplace for ultra rare items. The St. Louis auction featured an impressive offering of material carrying estimates of $50,000 and higher, with most failing to sell. This is the first sale in some time that there has been such a strong offering of material in this price range and the results signaled a continuation of thin demand for such items, in sharp contrast to the results for material of this sort achieved several years ago.

LARGE SIZE TYPE

Large Size Type continued to show that there is a very real secondary market here, especially for better quality material priced under $20,000 or so. The Knight auction included three Bison Notes cataloged as Gem. They sold for $3,200, $4,200 and $3,500, certainly consistent with the range of prices typically achieved in the recent past for such material. It might be noted in passing that the range of these results also demonstrates something commented on here in the past, i.e. the subjectivity of value determinations for collectable Paper Money, with three items carrying an essentially identical description selling for significantly varying prices based on factors determined by the Bidders. 1899 $1 Silver Certificates in the St. Louis auction continued to sell for prices considerably higher than these items were achieving several years ago. Buyers seem to be becoming increasingly conscious of signature combination scarcity and auction results are reflecting this fact for items such as the $1 1899 Silvers which were formerly regarded primarily as Type Notes with little premium for scarcer signatures.

SMALL SIZE TYPE

Small Size Type continues to reflect a growing quality and rarity consciousness on the part of buyers. The St. Louis auction included an impressive offering of low Serial Numbers and Stars in the 1929 Federal Reserve Bank Note series. The results seemed to demonstrate a considerable buyer interest. While it should be noted that the Gem $10 1933 Silver Certificate included in the sale failed to sell, scare items requiring specialized buyer knowledge to recognize seemed to do quite well. A VF $50 Chicago Federal Reserve Bank Note Star, for example, one of two known, went for $8,510, a price which would have been undreamed of a decade ago in a much less well developed market for such items. Scarce Stars in this series are typically achieving the highest prices in recent memory regardless of condition as buyers concentrate their focus on scarce material.

FRACTIONAL CURRENCY

Fractional Currency continues to be the area reported on here attracting the most tepid buyer interest. The most significant recent development here is the publication of Robert J. Kravitz's new book, A Collector's Guide to Postage and Fractional Currency. The publication of the Oakes-Schwartz guide to Small Size U.S. Paper Money was followed by a considerable growth of interest in that field. It is entirely possible that the Kravitz book will achieve a similar result in the Fractional Currency field. It is well organized, presents considerable information in a format which holds the reader's interest and meets the challenge of not intimidating the beginner while offering something for the more advanced collector.

NATIONAL BANK NOTES

While the market for the most expensive Large Size Type material is certainly weaker than it was several years ago, this is not the case in the National Bank Note area. The St. Louis auction included a much stronger offering of California Gold Bank Notes than is typically encountered. All sold at strong levels, with a couple of the pieces roughly doubling the results achieved when they were last offered three years ago.

The supply of National Bank Notes is simply inadequate to satisfy the demand provided by a growing and broadening collector base. As long as the population of buyers continues to increase we can expect to see a continuation of this upward pressure on prices. Among the more impressive St. Louis auction results were $31,050 for a $10 1902 Lake Arthur, New Mexico Territory; $18,400 for a $1 Santa Fe, New Mexico Territory First Charter and $12,650 for a $10 1875 Las Vegas, New Mexico Territory.

As prices have increased over the past several years in the National Bank Note area there have been larger and more impressive offerings at auction in this specialty area, especially of state based collections. Rising prices tend to call material onto the marketplace. At the same time, these broadening offerings of Nationals have tended to create additional buyer interest in the field and help fuel the trend of increasing prices predicated on that new buyer demand.

MISCELLANEOUS

There is little new to add to recent comments about Confederate and Obsolete Notes. Both continue to enjoy strong demand with prices for both under upward pressure from a growing collector base.

Chost Towns of Florida

Historical Numismatic Links To A Colorful Past

By William Youngerman

Mention the town of Iola to any numismatist and they will tell you Krause publications and Wisconsin. However, unknown to many collectors of Florida Notes and unlisted in all of the Florida currency references is the little known or heard of town of lola, Florida. It's located in the Panhandle of Florida on the Apalachicola River, three miles from Wewahitchka, and known as Tennesse Landing back in the early 1800's. lola, Florida actually had no less than three issuing or proposed issuing banks between the 1830's to 1840. These branch banks of Georgia were unknown to collectors until recent years. The first surfacing in a Smythe sale in 1985, a $1 Note on the Phoenix Bank of Commerce in Iola, Florida, for G.W. Stone & Co., a Script Type Note. Colonel Henry D. Stone, who settled Iola, served with Andrew Jackson and was later President of the Territorial Council of Florida. He was born about 1767 and buried in the

The second Note surfaced for sale in 1996, from the Western Reserve Historical Society, Spink sale. This Note, on the Bank of Columbus at Iola, Florida, was the only known issued Note on this bank and one of only two issued Notes on any of lola's banks. The remainder of Notes known on the Iola banks are attributed to the proofs and reprints from the archives for the American Bank Note Company. The third bank now known is the Planters & Mechanics Bank of Columbus, of which only Proof Notes are known.

One should ask then, why are there so many banks for such a small unheard of little river town? The Apalachicola River system was the fifth in commercial importance in the U.S. and in the 1830's, it appears that a group of important businessmen met in St. Joseph and decided to try to take away the cotton trade from Appalachicola. They organized the St. Joseph and Lake Wimico Canal Company in 1830. They started in 1836, dug the canal and finished the railroad, but the venture failed. The new plan was to build a new railroad to Tennessee Landing on the Apalachicola River. Competed in 1839, at a cost of $300,000, the new railroad was named the St. Joseph & Iola Railroad, the second railroad in the United States. Tennessee Landing became known as the town of Iola. Iola served for three years as the northern terminus for the busy St. Joseph & Iola Railroad in 1840. The bottom fell out of the cotton market, and the railroad abandoned operations in 1840. Iola, now abandoned by the bankrupt railroad turned to its citrus industry until the great freeze in the early 1900's killed all of the orange trees. Today Iola is little more than three or four fishing club houses and lots of history from Florida's pre statehood years. Like many of Florida's little forgotten towns, its only ties to numismatic history are found in these very rare Notes. Most of Iola's town fold are all dead and the town is now a ghost town that was listed on the maps in 1958, now, there is little evidence of it ever being there. One of the first reference books written on Florida Obsolete Notes and Scrip was by the late Harley L. Freeman, in 1967. In 1980, David Cassidy published his reference work on all Florida currency from the territorial period through the National Bank Note era. This wonderful out of print reference includes extensive history on the towns and banks of Florida, a must for any collector of Florida currency.

These and other north Florida Notes are very popular to collectors of both Florida and Georgia Notes due to the many Georgia banks with Florida branches. The following is a list of the known banks and notes issued from Iola, Florida. Please let me know of any other Notes on this town. We have traced some 75 different towns which issued Notes in Florida, 57 of those towns issued National Bank Notes with 109 different charters. These along with a complete census, may be discussed in future articles. I am currently in the process of writing a new book on Florida numismatic history and would greatly appreciate anyone's contributions via Notes known or held by them, town history's, tokens, photos and memorabilia pertaining to Florida's banking history.

Gem Crisp Uncirculated An almost perfect Note. Better than average margins. No aging or fading.

Choice Crisp Uncirculated A nice new Note but not quite Gem. Centering may be a little off. May show some aging or light counting smudges or wrinkles.

No trace of circulation. Can have centering problems, pin holes, counting smudges, wrinkles, close margins, or a corner tip fold (not into design). Almost Uncirculated (Almost new) These will be much the same as a "new" Note except for a single fold or several corner folds.

Extra Fine Circulated; may have some folds; still has some crispness.

Very Fine Some circulation; may show several folds and will have lost some of its crispness and color. Well-circulated with little crispness remaining; edges may be rough. Fine

Very Good Will be fairly well-soiled; may be significantly worn; might have roughness around the edges with only minute problems.

LINDNER CURRENCY ALBUMS

Collecting currency is fun but the fun comes from working with it, taking the time to study the design, to study the reasons the notes were issued, and to share your collection with your friends - both collectors and neophytes. Hand a person a stack of notes in just a holder is OK for a dealer to show a knowledgeable collector, but otherwise does not work. I have a very considerable collection of Boston Obsolete Banknotes and the organization that the Lindner Album offers me plus the pride I get when I show my notes is worth more than the cost of the album.
